LUMBERING DOWN THE HIGHWAY

An unidentified observer stares in dismay this morning at a pile of lumber dumped on Highway 101 from a loose trailer. The trailer broke from a truck driven by Benny R. Cooper, of 15 Grove Lane, Novato, near Richardson Bay Bridge at 8:22 a.m., causing a slight traffic back-up for about 25 minutes in northbound lanes. The accident delayed early morning commuters on their way to work but caused no injuries. (Independent-Journal photo)

ATTACKED AT HOME

Hub Policeman's Wife Cut

Two youths, smarting that "this is just a sample of what you and your husband are going to get," burst into the home of a San Anselmo policeman last night, terrorizing his wife and slashing her with a pocket knife.

The victim was Sharon Kay Del Santo, 23, of 33 Ross Valley Drive, San Rafael. Mrs. Del Santo, wife of Officer Robert Del Santo, suffered seven superficial knife wounds on her face, arm and left leg at the hands of the assailants.

She told police she was watching television about 10 p.m. when the attackers entered suddenly. Mrs. Del Santo said she attempted to reach a bedroom to get a gun, but that one of the two youths headed her off and seized a pocket knife belonging to her husband.

One of the thugs grabbed Mrs. Del Santo and began slashing her, saying, "This is just a sample of what you and your husband are going to get."

After the attack, the pair entered the dining room and smashed dishes and pottery on the floor.

Mrs. Del Santo reported the pair swore at her and referred to her and her husband as "pigs."

One of the thugs, Mrs. Del Santo said, was about 18, six feet, three inches tall, with light brown hair, and wearing a white t-shirt, blue pants and sandals. The other was said to be about 17, six feet tall, with dark brown hair. No clothing description for the second youth was given.

Del Santo, who was on duty at the time of the attack, told San Rafael police that he "has an idea" who the attackers might be.

Lt. Albert Howenstein of the San Anselmo police said he was unaware of any circumstances which might have led to the attack.

Crowd Boils At Announcement Of Marin City Swap Proposal

By PAT ANGLE

Marin City residents were told last night that to regain control of 60 acres of redevelopment land now held by the California Development Company, the community will have to relinquish all rights to 167 acres of choice property on the ridge above Marin City.

Many of the 200 persons who attended a joint meeting of the Marin County Housing Authority and Marin County Redevelopment Agency reacted with anger to the announcement by Wallace K. Shepherd, executive director of both organizations.

And many seemed both surprised and dismayed when Shepherd explained that the ridgeland property had been sold to the development firm in 1962 for $441,000 by the then housing authority and redevelopment agency boards.

The authority and agency have held California Development's $140,000 final payment on the land in escrow for the past two years, thus holding up final sale and transfer of title, Shepherd said.

The executive director said that after five days of negotiation, the New York-based development firm agreed to give up its claims to the 60 acres in return for the ridgeland title. "That's where we are now," he said, stressing that no final agreement had yet been reached.

California Development held exclusive development rights to all land in Marin City for seven years, but failed to live up to its contract to develop the property, despite numerous time extensions.

Now the federal government has given the redevelopment agency two years to complete development in the community, Shepherd said. And, in order to accomplish that goal, he said, it is necessary to free the redevelopment land from the development company, which still retains control of the property.

Leland H. Jordan, attorney for the redevelopment agency, said the agency in bargaining with the development company is "trying to make the best deal possible out of a bad situation."

An alternative to giving up all rights to the ridgeland would be to take California Development to court, declare the firm in default in its contract to develop Marin City and seek to regain control of all the land, Jordan said. But that kind of action would take two to five years, the attorney said, and the redevelopment agency, under a two-year federal deadline, does not have that kind of time. "Chances are a judge would say the redevelopment agency owns all the property because California Development is in default," Jordan said, "but we can't be sure of that."

Throughout the tumultuous three-and-a-half-hour meeting, members of the audience loudly expressed disgust with Shepherd, the housing authority, redevelopment agency and the current predicament. There were cries the Marin City community had been cheated and sold down the river and calls for Shepherd's resignation.

Ulysses J. Montgomery, planning consultant for the Marin Urban Development Association, (UDA), a group of Marin City residents seeking to become the community's exclusive developer, said he was convinced it was possible for the redevelopment agency to "get a better deal than the one you are talking about now."

The consultant said the New York firm had agreed to turn over rights to the 60 acres to MUDA for $1. In addition, he said the development company was willing to give the local development association a three-year option to purchase the 167 ridgeland acres for $1.2 million, which the firm claims is the total cost of its seven-

Disaster Could Cut Marin Off

By JEFF GREER

A state official warned yesterday that Marin County — still without a disaster plan — "could be an island for a while" if a disaster knocked out the Golden Gate, Richmond and Petaluma River bridges and Highway 101 to the north.

The warning came from Samuel Butts, regional coordinator for the California Disaster Office, at a meeting of county officials with spokesmen for eight cities, several districts, public utility firms and the Red Cross, a meeting that took place six months after it was revealed — in the wake of the February earthquake in Los Angeles — that Marin has no plan to cope with disaster.

Butts called on Marin public officials to prepare their own disaster plans for Marin's specific problems, rather than rely on plans made for Los Angeles, San Francisco or some other community.

Louis H. Baar, chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, had called the session to discuss disaster preparedness in Marin.

"The county of Marin as of now really has no plan" but expects to have one ready for presentation to the cities and districts within three weeks, Baar reported.

Baar and Thomas F. Campanella, assistant county administrator, said county planning had reached the stage that "we've got to know which way the cities want to go."

Butts explained that under state and federal law that took effect last year, officials of each local government agency

Veto To Military Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The administration reversed the Pentagon today by ruling out military pay increases during the 90-day wage-price freeze and sought to persuade openly disgruntled labor leaders to stay in line on the inflation fight.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally announced that servicemen will have to forego pay increases despite a Defense Department suggestionWednesday that they would be forthcoming.

President Nixon's chief economic spokesman also indicated Canada probably won't be given an exemption from the 10 per cent added tariff imposed on imports and he said Lockheed Aircraft would have to pay the duty on Rolls Royce jet engines being made in EKNGLAND for its new planes.

Members of the AFL-CIO executive council were in a bristling mood as they met in Washington with key White House advisers including Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson and George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Budget and Management.

A spokesman for the nation's major labor organization said the council is getting a mounting number of phone calls and telegrams from rank-andfile workers urging a general one-day walkout to protest the way the freeze is being administered.

AFL-CIO President George Meany already has denounced the Nixon approach, charging the freeze is patently unfair to workers while favoring business corporations.

Connally, in a wide ranging interview, served notice there would be few exceptions to President Nixon's new economic strategy.

The Treasury Secretary also talked tough about labor leaders and Democrats who have criticized the President's plan, citing as "sheer malarky" their arguments that the new strategy is a boon to business and discriminatory toward the American worker.

The Treasury Secretary cleared up one of the major questions about the wage-price-rent freeze by saying that members of the armed forces will be treated "like everyone else." He said the freeze would stop armed forces pay increases.

The Pentagon said earlier it assumed that the freeze would not affect the armed forces, but it would await a ruling from the new Cost of Living Council.

The council ruled earlier that teachers and state and municipal workers were covered by the freeze. Teachers can get pay raises this fall only if their contract period began before Aug. 14.

Connally also appeared to undercut a high level delegation from Canada which was to meet with him this afternoon to ask that Canada be exempted from the 10 per cent surcharge on imports.

He said that in 1962 Canada refused a U.S. appeal for exemption from a surcharge, and since the 1965 auto agreement between the two nations, the balance of trade has shifted $2.3 billion in Canada's favor.

"I don't think their bargaining position is as strong as it might be," Connally said.

There had been confusion earlier about whether the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. would be

Labor Divided Over Stop Strike Appeal

Teamsters 'Cooperate', Dockers' Boss Refuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The 1.8 million-member Teamsters Union today pledged grudgingly to "cooperate fully" with President Nixon's new economic policies including the 90-day wage-price-rent freeze.

The statement from Teamsters president Frank E. Fitzsimmons was in marked contrast with statements from other labor leaders, including AFL-CIO President George Meany and United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock, who have threatened resistance to the policies.

The statement was issued while the AFL-CIO executive council was still meeting in Washington to consider its course of action regarding the new policies.

The Teamsters statement noted there were inequities in the President's policies, and said the Teamsters were opposed to economic controls, but "if they are necessary, we hail President Nixon's action ... as a bold measure to preserve the economy of the nation."

"It is our understanding that authority granted the President in this area did not extend itself to the area of profits, dividends and interest," the Teamsters statement said. "This is legislative omission which should be corrected immediately to give the President the option of clamping the lid on all income until economic recovery is assured."

The statement also said: "While we are concerned about the exclusions in the executive order, while we deem it immediately necessary for the freeze to be all inclusive, and while we feel naturally that the working man and woman inherit the major brunt of the order, we in the Teamsters intend to cooperate fully with the President's order, hoping that economic recovery will be swift and that we can soon return to a free economy which has made this country so great."

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., —hearing of Bridges' remarks —urged President Nixon to invoke an 80-day cooling-off period provided for in the Taft-Hartley act if the strike is not settled immediately.

In Jackson, Mich., 5,400 members of the Utility Workers of America carried a strike into its 100th day. Russell Bjorkman, president of the Michigan Council of UWA, refused a Consumer Power Co., recommendation that the strike be called off in view of the wageprice freeze.

Negotiations continued between the Northern California construction industry and construction workers. More than 50,000 Teamsters have been off the job since the strike began earlier in the month. A spokesman said workers rejected a proposal that the strike lockout be ended for the duration of the wage-price freeze.

The strike by 1,000 workers at the Fraser Paper Ltd. in Madawaska, Maine, entered its sixth week, while a strike by 800 workers at Keyes Fiber Co., Waterville, Maine, entered its ninth week. The head of the AFL-CIO said workers would not return to work until a contract has been negotiated.

Striking members of local 107 of the International Typographical Union —on strike against the Pittsburgh Press since May 14 —remained off the job.

A spokesman for the Press said Wednesday he was advised by the White House that the

Nixon Urged To Broaden Freeze

WASHINGTON — Economist Walter Heller urged Congress today to scrap much of President Nixon's legislativeprogram to rescue the economy, and to substitute more benefits for the consumer and less for business and industry.

But he praised Nixon's initiative in formulating the program.

Heller is a former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers Under Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

He made his recommendations to the Joint Economic Committee, which opened hearings on the president's proposals to enact an investment tax credit, repeal the 7 per cent excise tax on autos, and speed up the personal tax exemption.

The President used his executive powers to enact the other portions of his program including a 90-day wage-price-rent freeze and allowing the dollar to "float" on world markets.

"The President took historic initiatives," Heller said. "The economic world will never be quite the same again."

Heller said floating the dollar "pulls out the linch pin" from the international control mechanism of world's monetary system. He added that the wage-price freeze "puts the public on the notice that the government is going to be the economic watchdog from here on out."

Heller said the public "sighed relief" at the President's initiative, which he called "great for openers, but the question is where do we go from here ... "

Heller said: "The President has moved from do nothing to do something, from a no-no to a go-go policy."

Heller said the country could not afford, at the end of the 90-day freeze, to "slip into a program of permanentcontrol." Instead, he propsoed "wage price tranquilizers" in the form of a wage-price board to set guidelines.

Heller said the wage-price freeze proposals were "heavily biased against the low and moderate income earner." He said there was $9 billion worth of relief for business and industry—"raw meat for business while the consumer gets little more than a soup bone."

Heller suggested among other things that the plan to allow accelerated business depreciation should be scrapped and the savings passed to the consumer as tax cuts. He also said the proposed increase in social security taxes should be postponed.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, said the emphasis would be on what

Former I-J Employees Seek Jobs

By DAVID DIETZ

About 40 former employees of the Independent-Journal — saying they were heeding a presidential appeal to end strikes — appeared at the newspaper today to demand back the jobs they left 18 months ago at the start of their strife-torn strike of the I-J. (See picture, page 19.)

The strikers, who included typographers, pressmen and stereotypers, were told by the I-J that they had been permanently replaced but that they would be considered for jobs for which they were qualified as vacancies occurred.

After a round of speeches by officials of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, which initiated the strike against the newspaper on Jan. 7, 1970, job applications given to a printers' representative were returned without being filled out.

"You can have these back," said Donald Sorensen, Local 21's chapel chairman, handing the application blanks to an I-J security officer. "We'll wait for a union contract."

The printers — joined in the walkout 18 months ago by members of the Web Pressmen and Stereotypers' unions — said they wanted to return to work to comply with an appeal by President Richard M. Nixon to end strikes and lockouts across the country during the 90-day wage-price freeze.

Their position was at variance, however, with that of other Bay Area striking unions, notably the Longshoremen and Teamsters. Spokesmen for those unions, including Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, have strongly rebuffed the Nixon call.

Yanks, Guns Airlifted Out Of Key DMZ Base

SAIGON (UPI)—Giant American CH47 troop carrying helicopters lifted all the artillery out of the key South Vietnamese Fire Base Sarge today in the face of increasing pressure from a North Vietnamese offensive along the Demilitarized Zone.

The removal of all of Sarge's artillery seriously weakened the outpost's main mission of guarding the Quant Tri River valley, a major Communist infiltration route.

UPI Correspondent Stewart Kellerman reported that heavy North Vietnamese shelling and ground assaults preceded the airlifting of the big guns and American radiomen out of the Sarge base. Heavy rain curtailed U.S. and South Vietnamese air and helicopter counterattacks today. But three waves of U.S. B52s pounded North Vietnamese positions along the DMZ defense line early today while Communist forces were attacking Sarge and Combat base Fuller.

Allied military spokesmen said the North Vietnamese carried out their first ground probe of their current offensive toward Fire Base Sarge and hit Combat Base Fuller nearby with 325 rounds of 120mm mortar.

The U. S. Command said meanwhile that 13 Americans were killed in battle in Indochina last week.

The North Vietnamese probe toward Fire Base Sarge was halted by South Vietnamese Marines who set up an ambush 500 yards east of the base and killed 11 of the Communists. There were no South Vietnamese casualties.

MIlitary spokesmen said the North Vietnamese patrol was probably reconnoitering for the regiment-sized force that overran Nui Ba Ho mountaintop outpost near the DMZ last Sunday. Some 12,000 North Vietnamese were believed operating in the DMZ offensive.

In a third attack today along the DMZ: the North Vietnamese fired 40 rounds of 82mm mortar fire on the South Vietnamese outpost of Alpha 1, three miles inland from the Gulf of Tonkin. The Saigon troops reported some wounded but no dead in the attacks on Sarge, Fuller and Alpha 1.

An ARVN spokesman said a South Vietnamese battalion fought a large Communist force from Tuesday to early Wednesday just north of Nui Ba Ho, killing 142 North Vietnamese with a loss of 22 South Vietnamese killed and 16 wounded.

American B52s struck at Communist positions at the height of the dusk-to-dawn battle then again early today: dropping a total of nearly 500 tons of bombs.

Typhoon Toll

HONG KONG (UPI) —Ten bodies were recovered from Hong Kong harbor today, bringing to 43 the number of known dead from Typhoon Rose which lashed the area Monday and Tuesday.

Government officials said more than 120 persons might have been killed by the storm, the British colony's worst natural disaster in nearly a decade.

Up to 90 persons, presumed dead, were listed officially as missing.

Public Relations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — HEW Secretary Elliot L. Richardson has approved a plan that could have him meeting with Washington newsmen more frequently than any of President Nixon's 10 other cabinet members.

"The secretary has bought the idea that more frequent meetings with the press would be beneficial," Brian M. Duff of the Health Education & Welfare Department said today. "He has approved the concept and we have gone ahead with the mechanics.

Richardson's public affairs staff has scheduled the first of what they hope will be every-other week news conferences for Sept. 8.

ATHENS (UPI) —Greece has eased tough draft legislation restricting domestic and foreign journalists, including elimination of a provision preventing newsmen from publishing news "harmful to public interests."

The 56-member Advisory Committee on Legislative Work deleted most of the controversial provisions of its draft law on the "journalistic profession" after five hours of debate Wednesday night.

No Change

PROVO, Utah (UPI)—Dallin Oakes, newly installed president of Brigham Young University, says the change in the conservative institution's leadership will not mean a change in its policies.

"The board of trustees establishes basic ideals and I am committed to those principles," Oakes said Wednesday in an interview on the BYU television station.

Oakes, 39, took over leadership of the Mormon College Aug. 1 on the retirement of Ernest Wilkinson, longtime president, whose administration was known for strict academic and dress standards.

"A change in the presidency of this university does not mean a change in policy, said Oakes.

Policeman Lands In Pot Growing Trouble

NEW YORK (UPI)—Patrolman John Gardellis, 26, was suspended from the force Tuesday on charges he grew marijuana behind the Central Park police station, just 10 feet from the stables where police horses were stalled.

Arrested with Gardellis, was his brother, Arthur, 20, who police said had a previous narcotics arrest record. The brothers were charged with selling, possessing and growing dangerous drugs. Lt. Paul E. Murphy, a spokesman for the narcotics division, said eight to 12 marijuana plants were found growing behind the police station and three plants, about three feet in height, still were there when the arrests were made Tuesday.

Eight Burn To Death In Pileup

VENTURA, Calif. (UPI) — Eight persons burned to death and 10 others were injured Wednesday evening when five cars and two giant trucks burst into flames following a chain reaction collision on busy U.S. 101.

One of those killed was an infant and authorities said some of the other victims could have been children.

"No rescue was possible," a Ventura County fireman said. "Those who were still in the cars when that fire began simply died there."

Traffic was backed up for five miles in both directions on the Pacific Coast highway as seven fire units fought the gasoline-fed blaze which erupted when fuel tanks on the vehicles ruptured. The collision occurred at about 5 p.m., a peak traffic period, and the highway was not reopened until six hours later.

Witnesses said a stalled auto started the grisly chain-reaction accident. A tractor-trailer loaded with produce plowed into the car and jacknifed. The other vehicles, including another truck, smashed into the wreckage.

Authorities said the accident took place on a stretch of the four-lane highway where an overpass for a new freeway was under construction.

The county coroner said the identities of the victims would not be available until late today because of the condition of many of the bodies.

Troops Patrolling Sewers To Find IRA's Extremists

LONDONDERRY7 Northern Ireland (UPI) — The British army today smashed through more barricades in Roman Catholic areas and began patrols through this city's sewer network in a drive against the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

Shouts of "we will not lie down under England"—but little violence — greeted the army push through barriers that had been torn down Wednesday only to be rebuilt overnight.

Catholics constructed the barriers of concrete, broken paving stones and household furniture, partly to keep British troops out and partly as a symbol of their defiance of the predominantly Protestant Northern Ireland government and the soldiers sent to keep peace.

An army spokesman said troops would pull down all the barricades and were patrolling the sewer system to get at IRA extremists, whom the government blamed for the deadliest outbreak of violence In the province in 50 years.

The latest military effort to demolish the barricades began early Wednesday and the fighting throughout the day claimed two more lives, including a deaf mute and brought to at least 28 the death toll since Aug. 9.

An Army spokesman said the troops cleared half a dozen barricades from streets in 90 minutes without bringing any of the gunbattles which occurred earlier.

Witnesses said Catholics rebuilding barricades bulldozed down by paratroops some hours earlier used concrete in some cases to construct the new barricades. Paving blocks, steel pipe, overturned automobiles and hijacked buses have been the traditional building materials for the barriers.

Egypt, Syria, Libya In Arab Federation Plan

DAMASCUS (UPI)—The leaders of Egypt, Libya and Syria have agreed to sign a constitution Friday linking their nations in a federation.

Political sources said today that after the signing establishing the Federation of Arab Republics, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat will go to Saudi Arabia for talks with King Faisal in the first visit there by an Egyptian leader since Gamal Abdel Nasser went to Jeddah in 1964.

Omar Sakkaf, Saudi Arabian minister of state for foreign affairs, drove to Damascus from Beirut Wednesday night and delivered an "important message" from Faisal, the sources said. There was no indication of its contents. Faisal was in Cairo in June to discuss the Jordanian-Palestinian guerrilla crisis.

Sadat, head of the Arab world's ranking state, opened a summit conference in the Syrian capital Wednesday night with Libyan Premier Moammar Khadady and Syrian President Hafez Assad. Their talks were continuing today.

Political sources said the tense border situation between Jordan and Syria, which engaged in brief tank duels last week, and the crisis between Jordan and the Palestinian guerrillas there also was discussed during the 90-minute first round.

Alioto Case Transferred By Judge

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—Trial of a $2.3 million civil suit against San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto and two former Washington state officials was moved Wednesday from Seattle to the Columbia River city of Vancouver, Wash.

State Supreme Court Chief Justice Orris Hamilton ordered the trial moved to the city of 40,000 across the Columbia from Portland, Ore., and scheduled it for Sept. 13—in the middle of Alioto's re-election campaign.

Alioto, former Washington Attorney General John O'Connell and former O'Connell aide, George Faler, are being sued for $2.3 million by the state and 12 public utility districts.

Move To Enlarge Redwoods Park

By BENJAMIN SHORE
I-J Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The bitter 1968 Congressional battle over creation of a Redwoods National Park on the northern California coast is about to be revived in an attempt to enlarge the park.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., who supported a larger park when he was in the House, plans to introduce next month a bill authorizing the acquisition of more redwood land to:

Create the larger park that conservationists wanted in the first place;

Protect streams from logging damage by buying trees on both banks for the necessary distance upstream.

Tunney's proposal, which is being studied by conservation groups in California, could spark another Congressional battle pitting logging interests against conservation and recreation groups.

Tunney has not yet decided how many total acres he will seek in his bill, an aide said.

Logging companies are reported to be clear-cutting stands of virgin redwood on property they own adjacent to the present 58,000-acre park. California conservation groups, led by the Sierra Club, are urging the immediate enlargement of the park to protect the remaining high-quality stands.

A buffer zone, conservationists argue, is needed to protect redwoods in the basic park unit. Fire is the major danger. Two of the four timber companies which own most of the land around the park have voluntarily refrained from cutting within 800 feet of the boundary, but the other two reportedly are clear-cutting right up to the edge.

Upstream logging activities along the banks of steams that run through the sprawling park have resulted in damaging siltation of the waterways, the Sierra Club reports.

Tunney's bill would invoke the authority of the 1968 legislation to permit the federal government to swap federal land of equal timber value for privately owned redwood lands. Where owners refus to swap, funds would have to be authorized to purchase the land.

Tunney met with representatives of timber companies and local governments in Eureka last week to discuss their fears that their major economy — logging and lumber — is threatened by the current park and plans for enlargement.

Tunney sought to reassure them by explaining the possibility of swapping productive lands. However, some major companies, such as Georgia-Pacific, have chosen to sell out and leave the area rather than swap. This has meant the loss of jobs and local tax revenue, Tunney was told.

The 1968 debate resulted in a compromise on the size of the park. Conservationists now believe their support in the House and Senate has grown in the last three years, that public support of environment issues is stronger, and that, accordingly, a Congressional fight to enlarge the park could be successful. Tunney is said to support this view.

The present park, now nearly three years old, still is little more than a shape on the map. The National Park Service and the Bureau of Outdoor recreation have not yet completed negotiations with the four major timber companies whose land was taken by the 1968 legislation. There is no park headquarters, no other improvement of the site to facilitate public visits, and surveying has not been completed.

This slow progress has angered Del Norte County espicially. It claims it was led to believe that the private, taxpaying timber lands that would be taken off the tax rolls would be offset within a year by the surge of tourist traffic and park headquarters activity in Crescent City.

are required to make specific plans for coping with war or natural disasters. All of Marin's cities had been relying on an obsolete, 11-year-old county plan.

City representatives at yesterday's session opted for an integrated plan with the county, agreeing with Baar that "we all have to work as one unit" forpreparedness.

An outline of civil defense ordinances to be adopted by each city will be ready for study by the cities within three weeks, reported Frank E. Kirby, an administrative assistant in the county health services department who has been preparing the county's disaster plan.

Kirby will be named county deputy director of emergency services when the plans finally are approved by the supervisors and state and federal disaster offices, Campanella said.

When audience members suggested that the county and city disaster plans be modeled on Los Angeles plans that were used in reaction to February's killer earthquake, Campanella reported, "Los Angeles is rewriting everything — they had some serious problems."

Tentative plans drafted by Kirby call for individual cities to mobilize their own resources in event of a small-scale disaster, possibly calling on neighbors for mutual aid. If the trouble is too large for the individual city, the county could be asked to declare a state of emergency, and would coordinate all manpower and supplies available in Marin. The cities' designated emergency staffs would become part of the county staff — and likewise city and county staff would be state staff if the county had to call on regional state aid.

The county and each city will have to name an emergency council of public department heads, utilities officials and others to oversee planning, under the proposal.

To insure continuity in local government, each supervisor and councilman would name up to five successors from the citizenry, to take over if the elected officials were unable to serve. Each department head responsible for emergency services would have to name three understudies.

State official Butts stressed that the key work in all the disaster planning was "automatic."

"Each man who'll have a job to do in case of disaster must know exactly where he's supposed to go and what he's supposed to do," Butts declared. There can be no waiting for emergency councils to decide policy after trouble strikes, he said.

Baar set another meeting with the cities and other officials for 4 p.m. Sept. 30 in the Marin Civic Center, to report on local agency reactions to the plans being prepared by Kirby.

Participating yesterday were representatives of each city except Fairfax, San Anselmo and Tiburon. Also present were officials of Marin General Hospital, North Marin County Water District, Pacific Telephone Co., Pacific Gas and Electric Co. and the Marin chapter of the American Red Cross.

year involvement in Marin City.

Shepherd said the development company had offered the redevelopment agency and housing authority the same deal about a year ago and been turned down by both groups. "We didn't feel California Development should be able to charge the community for what it cost them not to develop Marin City and tack the price onto the Ridgeland," he said.

Montgomery also accused the authority and redevelopment agency of refusing to meet with MUDA to discuss the asssociation's development plans for Marin City. After some discussion, Shepherd and Montgomery shook hands and agreed to try to work together.

Boards of both groups voted unanimously to set such a meeting to discuss both development and negotiations with California Development, at a date to be arranged by the executive director and MUDA representatives.

But, even though the authority and agency earlier this year had agreed tentatively to name MUDA exclusive Marin City developer, several board members indicated the groups have decided they do not want to commit all Marin City Land to one developer.

Montgomery said MUDA was prepared to work with other developers in Marin City, provided the association could choose its own developers.

exempted from the import surcharge. The government agreed earlier this month to guarantee a $250 million loan to prevent the giant aerospace company from falling into bankruptcy.

The money would be used to continue work on the L1011 Tristar jumbo jet, which uses Rolls Royce jet engines. An increase in the price of the British-produced engines would mean greater difficulty for Lockheed in completing the project.

Nixon, on a cross country trip to the Western White House in California, called for a revival of the "pride and energy of America," to make the program he announced Sunday work. He denied provisions of the plan dealing with international trade would "erect a wall around this country."

An administration spokesman, Treasury Under Secretary Charles E. Walker, said the economic program of wage and price freeze, tax cuts, import surcharge and de facto devaluation of the dollar had resulted in a "welling of confidence" at home and abroad. Walker denied the charge of AFL-CIO President George Meany that the program was a "bonanza for business."

Walker said this view ignored the job-creating aspects of the Nixon program, and he predicted a "beauty period" of expansion and growing productivity when the freeze ends.

The Cost of Living Council in a seven-page, question-and-answer statement issued late Wednesday confirmed the freeze on wages would extend to state and local employes. It said school teachers would be covered by the freeze if their contract period began after last Sunday.

The National Education Association (NEA) estimated the freeze would affect about 90 per cent of the nation's 2.1 million public school teachers. Teachers who have salary increases due this fall must work at least until Nov. 12 at the salaries they received last year.

There also were these developments:

—The Justice Department established machinery for enforcement of the wage-price freeze but promised that most complaints would be handled at the local level and that criminal penalties would be used only as a last resort. Assistant U.S. attorneys were assigned to the 10 regional offices of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, charged with administering the program.

—Chrysler Corp. joined General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. in announcing its prices on 1972 models would stay at 1971 levels for at least 90 days. American Motors Corp. said it would refund an average of $155 in excise tax charges to persons who bought the company's 1971 model cars on or after Aug. 16.

Hearing Set On Pot Growing

Brian Phillip Tourigny, 24, of Homestead Valley, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a felony charge of cultivating marijuana and a misdemeanor charge of possessing marijuana paraphernalia.

He is to be arraigned in superior court Aug. 30.

Hearing Set For In Fraud Case

Jackie Dickerson, 23, and Carol Reide Simpson, 25, both of San Francisco, have been bound over to Marin Superior Court of felony charges of grand theft and fraud.

They are to appear in superior court Monday.

They were arrested July 2 by Sausalito police who said the pair had duped a Sausalito woman into giving them $6,000 on the pretense they would share with the woman $38,000 they told her they had found.

Astronauts To Get Award In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Apollo 15 astronauts, two of whom drove their rover amid the boulders on the moon, will ride along the concrete canyons of Manhattan next Tuesday.

The mayor's office announced Wednesday that Col. David R. Scott, Col, James B. Irwin and Major Alfred M. Worden would be the city's guests and receive New York's highest award, the Gold Medal.

Prices Drop On Market — Second Day

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock prices dropped today for the second consecutive session in continued profit-taking after the superb gains earlier in the week.

Within the first two hours the Dow Jones industrial average — which reflects movement in 30 investment grade issues — had eased around 3 points net after shaving a first hour loss. Declining issues held a commanding lead over advances, 735 to 418, with around six million shares changing hands.

Among the issues down $1 a share or more were IBM $1.25, Control Data $1, Du Pont $1.38 and Standard Oil of California $1.13.

Fred Anschel, analyst for Shearson, Hammill & Co., said the profit taking was "nothing to be concerned about," and he foresaw a "much improved stock market climate" at least for the next few weeks in view of the new economic program offered by the White House.

Most other analysts also viewed the current dip as a healthy sign.

Some analysts felt second thoughts about the administration's new program might have caused some of the falloff.

"Maybe people are worried about some of the confusion... like the way the new Office of Emergency Preparedness says 'call back in a few days' when it's asked to explain about the wage-price freeze," said one broker. "It's easy to announce a new program, but tough to implement it."

Another said the fear of foreign retaliation against the 10 per cent surcharge on imports might be another factor.

"But basically, it looks like a good market getting ready to move ahead again in an orderly fashion," said Richard A. Pollack, director of research at Loeb, Rhoades & Co. "After all, there has been a tremendous advance since last Wednesday, since that's when the rally started, not Monday after the president's speech."

LABOR

Press and all of its employes were covered by the wage-price freeze. The Press said it was urged to "exert every effort" to resume normal operations on the basis of prices and wages prevailing before the freeze was put into effect.

Union President John Feigel said the union will not go back to work without a contract. Feigel said if the Nixon administration forces printers back to work, "it would make Hitler look like an apprentice." Negotiations were set to resume today.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, the administration's chief economic spokesman, said during an interview:

"I think they (the workers) are going to cooperate. I think the American worker is going to understand that these things are ultimately designed for their benefits.

"I think they're ahead of him," Connally said in reference to AFL-CIO president George Meany, a severe critic of Nixon's order.

Meany has said the order is "another tax bonanza" to big business and "patently discriminatory" to the American worker. He pointed out that the freeze does not apply to profits or interest rates.

Connally said Meany's charges were "sheer malarky" and "rank demagoguery." He said two of Nixon's three tax proposals—the 7 per cent repeal of the auto excise tax, and the move-up to Jan. 1 of an additional $50 in personal income tax exemption—were directly designed to benefit the individual.

But the administration's request that all current strikes be ended and that no new ones be initiated during the 90-day economic freeze provoked more criticism than cooperation. Leaders of the United Auto Workers urged that the AFLCIO and the Teamsters Union join the UAW in "action to mobilize the entire American labor movement against the Nixon order." The UAW and the Teamsters do not belong to the big labor federation.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said, "We intend to continue our policy of urging strikers to go back to work and negotiate, but we have no intention at the present time of using sanctions." His reference to sanctions involved a hint the government made Tuesday that it might seek court orders or fines to stop strikes which it feels threaten economic stability during the 90-day period.

Administration officials said Wednesday the government had only limited authority to actually end strikes.

I-J

union's stand outside the I-J: "Here we have a publisher who is determined to break the union. We're here to prove . . . that the publisher is trying to break the union and that it's not the union which went on strike."

The strikers marched four blocks from their headquarters on Mission Avenue to the I-J shortly before 7:30 a.m. Sorensen, entering the building, was met by Vernon A. Paris, I-J controller, who handed him job applications and explained the newspaper's stand.

Sorensen emerged,announced to the gathering what Paris had said and called the newspaper's action a lockout.

Olson and representatives of the Web Pressmen and Stereotypers' unions — Dave Ratto and Donald Miller — asked an I-J security officer if they could meet with newspaper officials and were advised to telephone for an appointment.

Soon, pickets began marching with signs that said, "I-J violates government order" and "We' ve been locked out by I-J."

I-J publisher Wishard A. Brown set forth the newspaper's position in the following statement:

"The striking workers at the Independent-Journal were permanently replaced a year and a half ago. There are no vacancies now. If any of the strikers would like to file applications they will be considered as vacancies occur for which they are qualified.

"The history of violence in this strike has been well documented. This union has been convicted of both civil and criminal contempt of federal court and contempt of state courts. Members of this union have been convicted of crimes up to and including murder. You must consider these facts in judging our lack of enthusiasm at today's offer.

"As for the president's request that strikers return to work, we have been assured that he certainly does not contemplate that permanent employees be separated from their jobs so that strikers can return to them.

"It is obvious from the union's public statements and the petitions that we received that the union is not offering to end the strike or to return unconditionally to work, but to take advantage of the present circumstances for propaganda purposes."

The strike has been marked by violence, vandalism and threats upon I-J employees who have stayed on the job. In July 1970, Allan Daly, an I-J computer specialist, was fatally wounded in his San Francisco home by two gun-wielding youths.

The youths, Richard A. Wamsley and Larry Rutherford, two 17-year-olds from San Bruno, were setenced to a California Youth Authority institution after admitting they attacked Daly.

They said, however, they were hired by Frank J. Thurber, also of San Bruno and a member of the San Francisco-Oakland Mailers Union, who was sentenced last December to life imprisonment for murder, conspiracy, first degree robbery and first degree burglary for his part in the shooting death.

Thurber's union is an affiliate of the International Typographical Union.

Also during the strike, windows of countless I-J advertisers have been smashed; strikers and sympathizers engaged in a riotous demonstration outside the newspaper plant on Valentine's Day, 1970, and three labor leaders — Olson, Jack Goldberger, president of Periodical Drivers and Helpers Local 921, and Donald Abrams, another official of Local 21 — have been jailed for violating an injunction limiting picketing and forbidding violence in connection with the walkout.

In addition, a U. S. District Court judge last January fined Local 21 and Teamster locals 70 of Oakland and 85 of San Francisco $25,000 each for criminal contempt in connection with secondary boycotts against I-J advertisers.

And a special federal grand jury in San Francisco is looking into possible violations of laws dealing with extortion and disruption of interstate commerce as a result of the printers' walkout.

Suits Filed To Brothels In Nevada

YERINGTON, Nev. (UPI)—The district attorney of Lyon County went to court Wednesday in an effort to close down five houses of prostitution on grounds they are a public nuisance.

Man Found Dead In Petaluma

Otred Joseph Hodgkinson Jr., 225 North Avenue, was pronounced dead on arrival at Hillcrest Hospital.

Sonoma County Coroner Andrew Johansen said Hodgkinson had suffered a deep cut on the chin from an apparent fall, but that cause of death had not been determined. Johansen said there was no indication of foul play.

James Erickson, 415 Seventh Street, Petaluma, had telephoned police at 1 a.m. to report seeing a man lying on the curbside in front of 825 Western Avenue.

Hodgkinson, a construction worker, was born in Oakdale, La. and had lived in Novato for 17 years. He served in the Army in World War II.

He is survived by his mother, Essie Hodgkinson of Novato; a son, Allen Hodgkinson of Sacramento; three daughters, Muriel L. Wallace of Sacramento, Shirley Hodgkinson of Grass Valley and Alice Jay of West Covina; two brothers, William R. Hodgkinson of Petaluma and Robert Hodgkinson of Novato; a sister, Mrs. Roger Plunk of Dundee, Ohio; and two grandchildren.

HEARING

happens after the 90-day freeze ends.

Proxmire called several experts on the economy, including former chairmen and members of the Council of Economic Advisors, to ask for their recommendations.

The Joint Economic hearings are only advisory in nature. But the information they develop will be made available to the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee, which will write the final laws implementing the program.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., Ways and Means chairman, said his committee would begin work drafting a three-part bill the day Congress returns to work from its summer recess —Sept. 8.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Finance Committee, said he will schedule hearings as soon as he receives the bill from the House, where tax legislation must originate.

These committees were concerned with speeding up scheduled income tax reductions, approving an investment tax credit for business and industry, and repealing automobile excise taxes.

Proxmire was more interested in the wage-price freeze aspects of the administration package. The freeze was authorized under a 1970 law that expires next April.

"In invoking a wage-price freeze, the President has taken a big first step on a long hard path," Proxmire said in a prehearing statement. "It is imperative now that this step be followed by a well worked out program for assuring stability when the freeze ends."

Antiannexation Forces Fail In Bid To Halt Bel Aire Election

Amid shouting and catcalls, the Tiburon City Council last night voted to hold an annexation election Oct. 19 in the Bel Aire, Eagle Rock and Bayview Heights areas.

Residents of the area thus join those in Strawberry for whom an annexation election Oct. 19 was set by the council Monday night.

The vote was 4-0 with Mayor Denis T. Rice absent.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer told the council, after it had allowed and denied several protests, that those against annexation had valid protests accounting for $876,892 assessed valuation whereas it would take $946,357 to represent more than half the $1,892,715 assessed valuation of the proposed annexation necessary to stop the election.

Mrs. Douglas de La Fontaine, Bel Aire resident, shouted that her figures differed from Balmer's, but Mayor Pro Tem M. Carlisle Becker adjourned the meeting without hearing the figures.

Moments earlier when the council was about to vote on the proposed annexation election, Atty. Stanley A. Shulster, representing the anti-annexation group, told the council in a loud voice that "You ought to be ashamed of yourselves for taking your action and not hearing the other side."

Becker asked him to be quiet and when he would not, Becker asked him to leave the council chambers.

"Remove me! I'm not disturbing the peace!" Shulster shouted at Becker in a loud voice.

About three-fourths of the 31 spectators loudly applauded Shulster.

After the council took its action, several persons in the audience applauded the council's action.

Earlier in the meeting, the council had approved protests totaling $35,749 and denied four submitted after the deadline Monday.

Even with these allowances, it left the protestors $102,108 short, Balmer figured.

Mrs. de La Fontaine asked for two weeks extension of time to get other protests.

City Atty. Robert I. Conn told the council that under law they could allow a reasonable time.

The council chose to ignore the request and proceeded with the resolution of annexation called West Peninsula Heights Annexation No. 2.

After the meeting, Mrs. de La Fontaine said that she figured that they had $926,238 in valid protests and with just a few more days, could get enough protests to make the $946,257 necessary to stop the election.

In his opening remarks, Balmer had said that the group had $841,143 in protests against annexation (with the $35,749 added during the meeting the final total was $876,892.)

Balmer said that $498,299 in protests were from owners who do not live in the area and "have no direct interest in how the area should be governed."

BURGLAR-FIRE ALARM WHIZ-KID FOR HIRE

I am the most advanced burglar alarm system anyone has ever created. People call me an electronics wonder. I stand guard over your home, apartment, or small business 24 hours a day and my protection is foolproof. You program me like a computer. If I see an intruder, I frighten him away . . . awake you and or silently call the police and bring them on the run too. I also will warn you at fire and smoke. I'm most attractive and, since I just plug-in, you can move me around easily. Recently, I've starred on national television (ABC, NBC and CBS Network TV shows), and in many national magazines. My name is Preventor II. Best part — I cost just a fraction of those old-fashioned wired burglar alarm systems. I want to protect your loved ones, so please give me an interview. For a no-obligation demonstration.

No'Fault Bill Touted By Niggeman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Louis W. Niggeman of Firemen's Fund American Insurance Companies said yesterday that Californians will spend an unnecessary $50 million more a year for automobile insurance unless a modified "no-fault" bill now before the legislature is passed.

The legislation is Assembly Bill 1805, introduced by Assemblyman Jack R. Fenton, Montebello, and passed by the Assembly during the past session. The bill now is before the Senate.

Niggeman, in a news conference, said the measure would limit the right to sue, but guarantee payments for all economic loss up to $10,000, including medical expenses, wage loss up to $750 per month, funeral and burial costs up to $1,000 and other benefits.

"No-fault" insurance means accident victims would receive payment for medical costs and other losses from their own insurance companies, regardless of who caused the accident and without the need to sue.

Niggeman said the measure has been opposed by lawyers who have been "distorting the issues and misrepresenting the facts ... in a desperate attempt to preserve the outdated auto insurance system in California."

"We can tolerate the verbal abuse," Niggeman said, "but the public is being duped into thinking the lawsuit system can be patched up to meet today's needs."

Sidewalk Project Is Approved

The Fairfax School District Board has voted to spend up to $850 for a sidewalk along Oak Manor School.

The project was approved by the board at its meeting Tuesday night, according to Gwyneth McGee, board secretary.

The sidewalk was requested by the Oak Manor Homeowners Association, she said. It will be a three way project with the school, City of Fairfax and the homeowners each paying a portion of the cost. Preliminary estimate on the sidewalk was $1,650 with the city to survey work on it, she said.

The Fairfax School District board also:

GOALS — Heard a report from Supt. H. Reginald Hammond that the teachers would study the goals submitted in March, to see how they could be used in this school year. The teachers will make the study Sept. 7 through 10th.

FILL — Approved an agreement with the City of Fairfax to dump fill debris in a low spot on White Hill School grounds.

DEER PARK — Approved an agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District on the use of two acres owned by the water district adjacent to Deer Park School. The board also approved an agreement with the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department on the same acreage. If the county wants to develop it first, it can, but the area must be kept for outdoor recreation.

MEMBERSHIP — Approved paying $5 membership to California Educational Placement Association.

WARRANTS — Paid $35,269 in bills.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 7:45 p.m. Sept. 14 instead of the regular meeting on Sept. 7, at the district office.

Interference With Topless Bars Out

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The police and sheriff's departments have been enjoined from interfering with topless or bottomless dancing at 16 nightspots in the city and county.

Superior Court Judge Robert A. Wenke issued the injunction Wednesday against law enforcement authorities. The action was taken in line with a recent Appeals Court decision that held nudity, in the absence of lewd conduct, could not be prosecuted.

North Marin Water Board Sets Election

The North Marin County Water District has passed a resolution of intention to hold a $1.6 million bond election Nov. 2.

The bonds, to help import water from the Russian River, would finance the district's share of the costs of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct system, intake valves and treatment facilities at the river and a line from the river to Cotati.

Directors Tuesday also set the tax rate for 1971-72 at 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a two-cent drop from last year.

Indications are that the $1.6 million bond issue could be financed with current revenue, but there is a possibility water rates would have to be increased about 10 or 15 per cent in 1977-78, he said.

Directors will have a public hearing Sept. 8 at 8 p.m. at the district office in Novato on the proposed bond election.

The North Marin County Water District Board also:

TAX RATES — Agreed that no tax rates would be set for 1971-72 in the Point Reyes Station and Inverness Park Service areas, pending further financial study.

OCEANA MARIN — Awarded V. N. Vukasin Contractors of Castro Valley a contract to construct a sewer system at Oceana Marin, near Dillon Beach, at a cost of $57,439.

TRUCK — Approved purchase of a forklift truck at a cost of $9,765 without trading of the old truck and $8,565 with a tradein.

PARKHAVEN — Approved an agreement with Boise Cascade Building Co. to provide water lines to Parkhaven, a 214-unit townhouse subdivision, at a cost of $129,685.

Managua, capital of Nicaragua, was almost totally destroyed by an earthquake in 1931.

10-Day Work Sentence Given

Anthony John Barbera, 20, of San Anselmo, has been ordered to work 10 days for the Marin County Parks and Recreation Department for possessing marijuana.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court also placed Barbera on probation for one year for the misdemeanor count to which he pleaded guilty last month.

He was arrested July 11 when San Rafael police found one marijuana cigarette in his car during a routine traffic stop.

Burglars Steal Burglar Alarm

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (UPI)— Trustees of this Ohio township decided last week to discourage vandals by installing a burglar alarm at the municipal trash dump.

Before the device could be installed, someone broke into a storage shed and stole the electrical equipment that was to be used to power the burglar alarm.

Burglary Chase Ends In Crash

The two policemen following the fleet-footed suspect Wednesday crashed their patrol cars head-on. The thief escaped.

Officers Gerald Moore and Bert Grazelli escaped injury, but their squad cars were demolished.

Educational Goals Studied By Trustees

The Novato Unified School District board has started review of 50 educational objectives recommended by its educational goals committee, a citizens group.

Trustees took a look Tuesday night at 16 goals which Asst. Supt. Paul C. Mobley had designated as ones that "can be reasonably met."

Among the objectives which can be met are enlarging the summer school program, offering vocational courses in adult education and physical fitness tests.

The Novato Unified School District board also:

GRADING — Approved "A-pass-no credit" grading for girls' physical education and personal typing at Novato High School and boys' and girls' physical education at Hill Junior High School and "pass-no credit" grading in personal philosophy at San Marin High School and reading for below average at San Jose Junior High School for one year on an experimental basis.

CURRICULUM — Approved a requested by the Secondary Curriculum Council for a minimum school day when teachers can review new courses, but postponed action on a request that one-tenth of 1 per cent of the district's budget, about $10,000, be allocated to curriculum research and development.

SCHOOL DAY — Approved the school hours for 1971-72, the same as last year.

ADULT EDUCATION — Approved class offering for the adult evening high school for 1971-72, covering 12 fields of study.

GIFT — Received $821 as a gift from the Loma Verde Parent-Teacher Association for science and playground at Loma Verde School.

Purses Stolen

Two purses and their contents, valued at a total of $360 were stolen from the car of Johnee L. Kehoe of La Habre, Orange County, while it was parked Aug. 11 on Shoreline Highway near Stinson Beach, Marin County sheriff's office reported yesterday.

Hearing Set For Pair In Burglary

Mark Jefferson Lee, 22, and Casey Lawrence Porter, 21, both of San Rafael, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on charges of burglary.

They are to be arraigned in superior court Aug. 30.

They were arrested Aug. 6 behind a 7-11 Food Store at 292 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia.

Four cases of malt liquor and 45 cartons of cigarettes were found hidden in bushes nearby.

URBAN STUDIES

Program To Probe Sonoma Potential

By BONNIE BARD

Students in the new urban studies program at Sonoma State College won't get that hemmed-in feeling since the college's six-county service area will be their classroom.

While urban studies normally emphasize big-city problems, the Sonoma State curriculum will deal directly with rural counties that face environmental problems brought on by the threat of rapid growth.

Program director Bruce E. Woelfel said the program is based on the premise that Sonoma County and its neighbors now face the problem that Santa Clara County did when tract homes replaced groves of fruit trees, wineries and potential recreational land.

The clash between rural values and the increasing pressure of urbanization has come to Sonoma County, as evidenced in the rapid growth of Eastern Petaluma. Woelfel said he believes there is still enough time for adequate and imaginative planning to deal with Sonoma's pressures.

"This program is very appropriate for Sonoma County," Woelfel said. "The very quality of life is at stake here."

Woelfel expects an initial enrollment this fall of 20 to 25 students. After classroom instruction in the basic planning tools such as map preparation, surveys and design elements, the class will be divided into study groups of four or five and concentrate on the practical aspect of planning. Each group will select a particular area to plan and will work as a team to carry it out.

As an example, Woelfel said, "In Cotati Herman D. Ruth and Associates just finished the general plan, but a study group could go into more detail and prepare a plan that would fit with the work already done."

FOUR SEMESTERS

Study group members will work together for four consecutive semesters, Woelfel said, and will have to learn the art of working closely together. The Sonoma State psychology department will, in turn, study the study groups to gain insight into group dynamics.

Woelfel sees his students as advisors to public agencies and at the conclusion of the work presenting their findings on the best land use to the local planning commission or board of supervisors. He said he believed that local agencies would welcome the extra planning work that adds no expense.

He said his students will also be encouraged to express their feelings on specific issues to local governing boards, especially if they are residents of the area.

In addition to the 32 units of courses required in the urban studies department, students will take courses in other departments that are especially tailored for the program. The history department will offer "History of the American City;" a data collection course in the management department on " The Planning Process;" biology courses dealing with ecological problems; and sociology and psychology courses related to social and ethnic minority problems.

Woelfel, 41, received his Bachelor of Arts degree in architecture from Ohio State University and his Masters degree in city planning from the University of California at Berkeley. The former Sausalito resident worked as a planning consultant before joining the Sonoma State faculty.

"REAL PROBLEMS"

He said he believed the program would be popular since the study takes a very practical approach. "Students like to work on real problems — not just theories," Woelfel said.

College officials were pleased when the new program was approved and see it as a means of increasing the college's service to its area.

Woelfel said students graduating with a Bachelor's degree in urban studies will be considered pre-professionals. While most large cities require planners to have masters degrees, the less populous counties and cities on which the students will specialize do not.

Sonoma County will serve as the initial "field laboratory" for students, but Woelfel looks to the day when students branch out to the entire area

RESCUED FROM YACHT

Petition For Maintaining Rec Land

An initiative petition — aimed primarily at preserving the Marin Town and Country Club in Fairfax for recreation and preventing its development for apartment housing — will soon get under way.

The initialive calls upon the Fairfax City Council to establish a Commercial-Recreational zoning ordinance governing large parcels such as the Marin Town and Country Club.

Notice of intention to circulate the petition was published yesterday by a committee to Preserve Land and Nature (PLAN), according to publicity chairman Priscilla C. Gray. The committee must wait 21 days before seeking signatures, she said.

The committee wants to get about 500 signatures in 180 days, she said. If it gets 10 per cent of the 3,195 registered voters, the city council must call for a special election. If it gets 15 per cent of the voters, the council can adopt the ordinance without a special election, she said.

Members of PLAN are Allen Bernes, Albert E. Gately, Everett Jensen, Joseph Walla and Mrs. Gray.

First Smog Alert Possible In Fall

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials yesterday recommended a test this fall of the region's first smog alert system, but wondered if the public will go along with its voluntary controls.

The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District's advisory council nevertheless gave the system its unanimous endorsement, and sent it to the board of directors for final adoption at its Sept. 1 meeting.

Several council members especially questioned whether the public will go along with such steps as eliminating unnecessary automobile trips and barbecuing.

One member, Joseph D. Coons of San Rafael, said the system will give the public "a chance to vote on how much they want clean air."

The system also will depend on voluntary curtailment of industrial processing. The Bay Area League of Industrial Associations, in a letter last week to its members, warned that failure to heed the district's call for voluntary steps could force severe mandatory restrictions on industry.

New federal regulations require the district to establish by next January a three-stage emergency action plan, ranging from "alert" through "warning" to "emergency." Controls become more severe at each level, with driving banned and industry shut down at the "emergency" stage.

District officials, however, discount the possibility of the two higher stages being reached in the nine-county region.

The system recommended yesterday dealt only with the first stage.

Dr. Milton Feldstein, director of technical services, estimated that four to five alerts will be called a year. Oxidant was the only pollutant in the region that reaches a high enough level to warrant an alert, he said.

The maximum oxidant level in the system, one tenth of a part per million for 12 or more hours, has been exceeded only three times since 1968, he said.

He said alerts will be called whenever it was predicted the maximum level would be exceeded for 12 hours, thus probably will be called more often than past experience would indicate because of the difficulty of making precise predictions.

Feldstein noted that oxidant is largely the product of pollutants emitted from automobiles, so the most effective action will be to curtail traffic.

The aim of the alert system was to prevent the level of pollution from reaching the point at which damage to human health begins. He said that medical experts estimate this level is somewhere between two and three-tenths of a part per million.

Feldstein, rebutting council doubts about the need to curtail barbecuing during alerts, stopping barbecues "would effectively remove visibility restriction in the immediate vicinity of the barbecue."

The district's director of information, Edward W.McHugh, cautioned that "many gallons" of charcoal starter also could be a significant source of air pollution. Coons, however, said the number of gallons was "a lot fewer than of gasoline" being burned at the same time by cars.

McHugh previously noted that the heaviest barbecue use coincided with the same hot weather that contributes to air pollution. The heat drives people out of their kitchens and encourages increased barbecuing, he said.

McCain: U.S. Must Not Abandon Asia

DALLAS (UPI)—The United States should not abruptly withdraw its forces from Southeast Asia because that would mean an end to freedom for millions of Asians, according to the commander in chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific.

Adm. John S. McCain, in a speech to the 72nd national convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW), said Wednesday this nation "must not, I repeat must not" abandon what it has helped to win for the free peoples of Southeast Asia.

"Our nation must not be turned aside from its proper course in Southeast Asia," McCain said. "We must not initiate an abrupt and consequential pullback of U.S. forces in Vietnam. I am convinced that the months ahead are critical for the preservation of all that the United States and allied forces have achieved in Indochina."

McCain represented the Defense Department in accepting the VFW 1971 Armed Forces Award presented in absentia to American prisoners of war and the U.S. forces missing in action in Southeast Asia.

The vanguards, representing Post 6305 of Campbell, Calif., won the "Million Dollar Pageant of Drums" staged Wednesday night in the Cotton Bowl.

The Troopers of Casper, Wyo., finished second in the competition and the 27th Lancers of Revere, Mass., were third.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, DGa., said the United States should start trying to restore respect in the armed forces or else no one will try to join an all-volunteer army.

"Abuse and ridicule have been heaped upon the military," Talmadge said. "Morale and respect for United States servicemen is lower today than ever before. Dedication to duty has been rendered virtually meaningless. In many respects discipline, as we know it, has become a farce."

Police Chief Shot By Men

TECPAN DE GALEANA, Mexico (UPI)—This village was without police today. Its five policemen fled after assassinating the police chief.

Guerrero state officials said police chief Jeremias Gutierrez Santana was shot to death at his home Wednesday night by the rest of the police force, who had complained about low pay and promotions.

The policemen fled into the roadless jungle outside this village of 12,000, some 120 miles southwest of Mexico City.

Vegetable, Fruit Contest At Fair

Special competition and awards will be offered at the Marin County Fair for vegetables and fruits grown in organic gardens according to Marcelle McCoy, fair manager.

She said that mention of the organic fruit and vegetable classes was unintentionally omitted from the premium list for the fair, which will be held Oct. 8 to 11 at the Marin County Civic Center.

Gardeners may designate that their entries are organically grown on the entry blanks, to enter them both in the open competition and in special judging for organic produce.

Life Saving Courses Slated In Tiburon

Junior life saving will be held from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Monday through Aug. 30; senior classes will be held from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.for the same eight days.

Mexican Prisoners Flee In Helicopter

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Two men, including a New Yorker convicted of manslaughter, escaped from a maximum security prison in Mexico City Wednesday when a helicopter landed inside the prison to lift them to freedom.

The two men were identified as Joel David Kaplan, 41, a New Yorker sentenced to 28 years for manslaughter, and Carlos Antonio Contreras Castro, a Venezuelan serving a seven-year term for counterfeiting. They remained at large today.

The warden of the Santa Marta Acatitla Prison on the outskirts of Mexico City, Jose Luis Campos Burgos, said a little blue helicopter landed on a patio inside the jail adjacent to the dormitory where the two men were housed.

"The criminals boarded the helicopter, which took them away," he said. It was tracked briefly on the radarscope at Mexico City International Airport but disappeared from the screen before it could be intercepted. A full-scale hunt was underway for both the helicopter and the men.

The warden said "all those responsible for the custody and security of the jail have been placed under arrest" while an investigation is carried out as to how and why the helicopter was permitted to land.

Kaplan is a nephew of J.M. Kaplan, president of the J.M. Kaplan Fund of New York. Testimony before the U.S. Congress has described the fund as a philanthropic organization created as a channel for funds of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

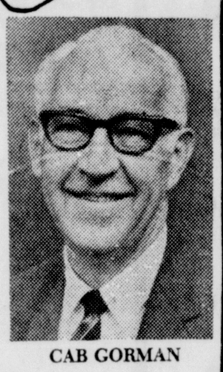

Kaplan was sentenced to prison for manslaughter in the death of Luis Melchor Vidal.

OLD POLICIES HIT

America's Big Problem? Economy, Politicians Say

Editor's Note: UPI had just completed a 50-state survey of political leaders, asking them what they thought was troubling Americans, when President Nixon unveiled his new economic program. The following dispatch is based on that survey.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon veered away from his old economic policies just as they appeared to be leading him into a political minefield and endangering his chances of re-election.

However successful his new policies may prove to be, it was clear the old programs were bringing widespread public dissatisfaction about such things as the rate of unemployment and the price of groceries.

Those conclusions were drawn from a UPI survey of state political leaders, polled just before the President's Aug. 15 announcement of a new economic course. Governors, state party chairmen and other party spokesmen were polled.

In the 50 states, 35 Democratic and 31 Republican leaders listed the state of the economy first when asked what issues or problems were of paramount concern to the people of their state. Overall, 42 Democrats and 39 Republicans put that issue among the top three.

Some listed two or three variants of the economic issue. The overall totals would have been larger if those surveyed had included such related issues as state budgets and taxes and the cost of welfare programs.

"The three things that concern Utahns most are all tied into one thing, the economy," said Democratic Gov. Calvin L. Rampton of Utah. "I'd put them inflation, unemployment and the cost of living. Utah's economy is extremely healthy and in good condition at this time, but Utahns seem to feel the state of the national economy will hurt us."

"The state of the economy and its effect on the family's pocketbook will be the No. 1 issue in the minds of the people during the coming months, said Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan of California. "They will be watching closely to see how far each dollar will go and how much of each paycheck will be taken away from them to finance the growing cost of bureaucratic government at every level.

"They also will be keeping a wary eye on the job market and its effects on their individual personal lives as we continue the difficult transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy," he added.

The Vietnam war was mentioned in 41 replies but not always in the same context. A number of Republicans regarded Nixon's moves to wind down the war as a contribution to his reelection. Some Democrats were dissatisfied with the pace of withdrawal.

Other issues mentioned most frequently were crime and drug abuse, state budgets and taxes, improvement of the environment, confidence in government, and busing for racial balance in schools.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri, a Democrat, linked national and state economic issues this way:

"... Missourians are looking at pocketbook issues on the national level and money, or new taxes, at the local level. This includes the services they want but don't want to pay for. These overshadow everything else, I think."

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, Illinois Republican, gave this assessment of the issues:

"War, taxes and the bitterness in America. I wish all Americans would stop to think how far we have come in realizing the dream of this country before setting out to tear it apart. Settling our differences in the present atmosphere is not impossible, but it is very difficult.

"The President has asked that we lower our voices. I agree. And if we did so, I think a cause of genuine distress on the part of the American people would be removed."

Reagan said Americans are deeply concerned about "the militant worship of change for its own sake throughout the nation and its effects, for good or evil, on the painfully established fabric and time proven moral backbone of our society."

He said working men and women also were "impatient and angry because a monstrous and outmoded welfare system, which has failed miserably to help those who need it most, is allowed to spawn a runaway caseload consisting largely of those who need it least." Although he listed the economy and busing of school children first among the issues, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes of Texas, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, said this about welfare problems:

"The third problem most often mentioned to me by our citizens is the recurring crisis in welfare. The mounting financial demand of our various welfare programs has become the No. 1 crisis of the decade. Unless government, both state and federal, adopts significant reforms in the welfare system, the states will soon be facing the possibility of bankruptcy."

On the busing issue, Barnes said the administration had followed a "vacillating policy."

"The administration has handled this issue badly, and all citizens, no matter what their political philsophy, their color, race or religion, are seriously upset," he said. "The actions taken have been disorganized, inconsistent and harmful, not only to public education but also to every schoolchild in the state."

Among those deploring a shortage of public confidence in government was Rep. Kenneth B. Lee, Pennsylvania House Republican leader, who said "people in recent years have almost completely lost faith in the capacity of our system to solve the necessary problems of survival."

"It is not a national, state or local issue," Lee said. "I think they have this opinion almost from the lowest municipality and school board through the state up to the national government. This colors just about everything they relate to — economic problems, the issues of Vietnam."

Man Killed In 3-Car Span Crash

A 35-year-old San Francisco man was killed and four Marin residents were injured today in a three-car collision on the Golden Gate Bridge.

The California Highway Patrol said southbound commuter traffic into San Francisco was halted for nearly an hour because of the crash and was backed up to Richardson Bay Bridge near Mill Valley.

Killed in the accident was Kenneth Kastedt, who apparently pulled out of the fast northbound lane into a southbound lane near the bridge's south tower, according to officers.

The highway patrol said the Kastedt vehicle struck one driven by Patrick J. Dowling, 40, of 10 Harbor Drive, Corte Madera. The impact of the headon collision drove Dowling's car into a third auto driven by Craig L. England, 24, of 1416 Second Street, San Rafael.

Kastedt was taken to Mission Emergency Hospital and died at 9:30 a.m., according to hospital officials.

Treated at Mission Emergency Hospital were Dowling, for an injured elbow, and two passengers in his car, Donald J. Oliver of 76 Cottonwood Drive and Ronald K. Jerome of 36 Hart Street, both of San Rafael.

Oliver and Jerome were reported in satisfactory condition and were expected to be released following X-rays, the hospital reported.

England, who was not injured in the accident, and his wife, Margaret, were taken to Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio. She suffered facial and forehead cuts in the accident.

Innocent Pleas In Burglaries

Sandra A. Moore, 18, of San Pablo, and Carolyn Jean Hankins, 23, and Sadie Evelyn Gamble, 35, both of Richmond, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to five counts of burglary.

Jury trial was set for the week of Oct. 18.

The women were arrested June 10 in Novato.

Innocent Plea To Heroin Charges

Walter Sydney Boatwright, 22, of San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court to charges he offered to sell and sold heroin to a Marin drug agent March 8.

Jury trial was set for the week of Sept. 27.

American Soldiers In Korean Brawl

SEOUL (UPI) —American soldiers brawled in the Itaewon area of Seoul late Wednesday and military policemen were brought in to put down the fight, U.S. military officials said today.

Local government officials did not say so, but Korean police said the brawl involved white and black soldiers.

Tiburon Woman Arrested In Probe Of Bizarre Robbery

A bizarre robbery of a Sausalito home last night by a woman and two gun-wielding male companions has resulted in the arrest of a 22-year-old Tiburon woman and an intensive search for the two other intruders.

Carol Natanson, of 8 Southbridge Drive East, was booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of armed robbery following the episode, which occurred at the Susan Tomsa residence, 811 Spring Street.

Patrolman Michael A. Parick of Sausalito said Miss Tomsa told him that at about 3 p.m. yesterday Miss Natanson arrived at the house with a pair of hedge clippers and began shouting that another resident of the house, identified only as "Barry," had stolen her stereo.

Miss Tomsa said she asked Miss Natanson to leave, but that Miss Natanson attacked her with the shears, bruising and cutting her arms. She then left, threatening to return and "kill everyone."

Patrick said the Tiburon woman allegedly returned to the house about 11 p.m., with two male companions, one carrying a .22-caliber pistol.

Another resident of the house, John N. Vesowate, 23, told police one of the men shoved the pistol under his chin, turned off the living room lights and forced Vesowate — at gunpoint — into a corner of the room, then fired four shots into a wall.

Vesowate said the second man then held the gun on him while the others searched the house, then fired a fifth shot into the living room ceiling.

About that time another man, identified only as Albert, arrived at the residence and Vesowate told officers the robbers took $150 from the visitor's wallet.

Officer Patrick said he obtained Miss Natanson's address from Miss Tomsa and went to her Tiburon home. When Miss Natanson admitted him to the house, the patrolman said he noticed a loaded pistol in plain view on a bedside table and arrested the woman for investigation of armed robbery.

The two men involved in the robbery venture are both described as white, about 6 feet tall, between 24 and 28 years of age and between 160-180 pounds. One man is described as having long, straight black hair and a mustache and goatee.

Miss Natanson was held to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Teen Bound Over On Burglary

Barbara Lynn Stephens, 18, of San Francisco, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a charge of burglary.

She is to be arraigned in superior court Monday.

Miss Stephens and Randy Turner, 19, also of San Francisco, were arrested May 11 when Sausalito police allegedly found them at the home of Phillip J. Bailey at 61 Crecienta Drive. Stereo equipment was found piled by the door of the house, police said.

Turner was previously bound over to superior court and is set to stand trial on the burglary charge next week.

Power Failure In Two Areas

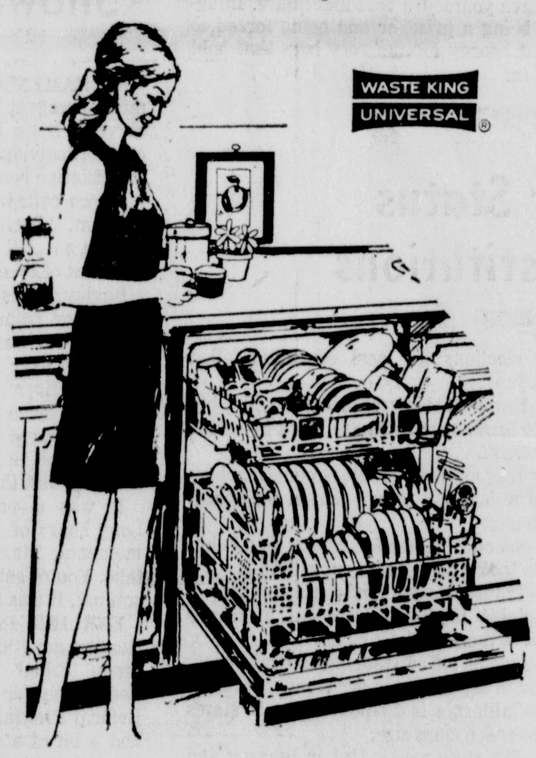

A power failure blacked out 2,000 homes for 45 minutes and 100 homes for three hours Tuesday night in Terra Linda and Lucas Valley, a spokesman for Pacific Gas and Electric Co. reported today.

The spokesman said an underground cable failure caused the blackout at about 7:30 p.m.

Wage Freeze? Sure, For The Other Fellow

We are going to hear plenty more howls because of President Nixon's freeze on wages.

Complaints about the price freeze will be mostly grumbling, sort of sotto voce. Likewise those from importers about the additional 10 per cent duty. But there'll be nothing sotto voce about the protests from those who had been promised pay raises they now won't get.

Already, the outcry is beginning — and, predictably, it comes first from those on the public payroll.

SCHOOL TEACHERS are among those hit. And it's tougher on them than on most others, because they are accustomed to counting their chickens before they're hatched. Uniformly, they are on pay schedules which call for automatic step increases each year until they reach the top after 15 years or so. And in addition, annual raises in the schedule itself have become almost foregone conclusions.

This time, no step raise — at least, not until November at the earliest. That's because the wage freeze order provides that increases previously contracted are null and void unless already in effect — which the teachers' aren't, in most cases, until their September checks.

The National Education Association has called for a nationwide telegram campaign to pressure Congress and the administration into making teachers an exception to the rule.

OF COURSE, if you make teachers an exception, you should do the same for other public employees who are on salary schedules which provide for annual step increases for lesser periods (no other has so many of them as the teachers' schedules).

And if they are entitled to their step increases, isn't every unionized workman entitled to a raise already negotiated for him but which hasn't showed up yet in his pay envelope? Of course he is.

And if every unionized workman is entitled to such a pay raise, isn't every non-union workman entitled to a similar raise — for doesn't it cost him just as much to live (except for the union dues)? Certainly.

SO WHAT BECOMES of the wage freeze? It melts in one h-- of a hurry.

We trust neither Congress nor administration will be so foolish as to make exceptions for anybody. For one exception can but lead to another, and the whole effort is then lost.

If we want to stop inflation, we have to start somewhere. The wage freeze is part of that start. And we find pretty quickly who are good citizens and who are interested only in making sure "I get mine" — just by listening to the howls.

"Ol' Nixon wuz layin' down in th' road protestin', so Ah joined him tuh keep him company."

Grasshoppers Use Weedkillers

The powerful herbicide, 2,4-D, has strong qualities as an ant repellent. Now, some Cornell researchers have found that a species of Florida grasshopper has incorporated it in its tobacco juice, as we used to call the frothy, brown juice which the nasty, little fellows expel on people, birds or attacking ants.

It's a remarkable instance of an insect using man's chemicals for its own purposes.

No Joy In Yugoslavia Over Brezhnev's Visit

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Soviet Communist Party Leader Leonid I. Brezhnev is scheduled to visit Yugoslavia next month for the first time in five years, and indications are that Yugoslavs do not expect whatever he has to say to be entirely pleasant.

They are reacting accordingly.

The Russians do not like it that Yugoslav-Communist Chinese relations have shown improvement after 20 years in which their only exchanges consisted of insults.

THE RUSSIANS always have been suspicious of the close ties between Presidents Tito of Yugoslavia and Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania whose friendship for China only recently has been reaffirmed.

Nor can the Russians be entirely pleased with increasingly good relations between Yugoslavia and Albania and Albania and Greece, suspecting that it could be the beginning of an anti-Soviet Balkan bloc.

On their side, the Yugoslavs have not allowed the recent large- scale Warsaw pact maneuvers in neighboring Hungary to pass unnoticed, nor those scheduled later in the month for Bulgaria, Yugoslavia's neighbor to the west.

A YUGOSLAV army weekly, Narodna Armija, publicized a long speech by the army chief of staff re-emphasizing Yugoslav determination not to yield an inch of territory and to face aggression with "permanent and complete preparedness for a long-lasting armed struggle."

Col. Gen. Viktor Bubanj said Yugoslavia could stop an attack with a mixture of regular army and guerrilla warfare, with highly trained civilians ready to carry on the battle from streets and rooftops in the cities.

Speaking of the Brezhnev doctrine by which Russian armor intervened in Czechoslovakia in 1968, Tito declared:

"We are capable of dealing with any situation that might result from implementation of this doctrine."

INTO THIS BREW now has been tossed a report by the Hungarian government newspaper Magyard Hirlap that Chinese Premier Chou En-lai plans a visit this fall to Romania, Yugoslavia and Albania.

The newspaper said that "regretfully" it could not be excluded that the trip would have an "anti-Soviet edge."

The newspaper said it could "create an extremely dangerous situation."

Neither Bucharest nor Belgrade confirmed the report beyond saying a Chinese government delegation had been invited and had accepted invitations to visit both countries.

PRIOR TO THE newspaper warnings there had been reports the Russians would move soon to veto a suggestion of Balkan cooperation between Bulgaria, Romania and Yugoslavia. Josef Stalin killed a similar scheme after World War II but recently it had received Moscow approval as a way of reasserting Soviet authority in Yugoslavia and Romania. The Kremlin changed its mind out of fear that the plan could backfire and weaken its ties with Bulgaria.

The Russians have not disclosed the purpose of the Brezhnev trip. But it has been observed thit neither Warsaw pact maneuvers of such scope as those in Hungary and contemplated in Bulgaria nor newspaper warnings of such severity have been seen inside the bloc since the days just preceding the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

The Orwellian Society Alive (But Not Well) In East Berlin

(Reprinted from San Francisco Examiner)

Last Friday, in a demonstration of Big Brother society unsurpassed by the nightmares of George Orwell, Communists in East Berlin staged a parade to celebrate a notable 10th anniversary of their slavery — erection of the notorious Berlin Wall.

Staged is the proper word. Without orders from their political masters, it would be impossible to imagine that East German citizens would march out to honor an obscene barrier that cuts their greatest city in half.

It takes 15,000 East German border guards to patrol the incredible concrete and electrified barbed-wire fences that divide some three million friends, neighbors and families.

Scores of freedom-hungry people have been killed trying to escape over the wall from East to West. And as long as the wall exists, no matter how many parades the Communists stage in its honor, it will remain as tangible proof that tyranny is founded on fear.

Have yourself a real nightmare. Imagine being a prisoner and being forced to shout hooray for the very bars that hold you in.

Schools Lose Their Status As Untouchable Institutions

By JERRY GOLDBERG

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — There was a time when parents, legislators and even newspapers refrained from questioning actions of the educational establishment.

There have even been school board members who were willing on too many occasions to abdicate their policy making power in favor of school administrative staffs on the grounds the staff "knew best."

For years "educationists" have been able to convince everyone they really knew how to produce a "well rounded little individual who can make it on his own in the outside world."

IT HAS BECOME increasingly clear the products of California's public schools have been having a harder and harder time "making it in the outside world" during recent years.

Because of their attitudes, school board members and their staffs no longer get support from the taxpaying, voting citizen.

There was a time when the school people could rally total community support for a school tax raise or bond issue. A new program would be accepted because the whole community trusted the schools as they would not trust any other governmental process. This is no longer true.

WILSON RILES, state superintendent of public instruction, has drawn up a 10-point indictment on the problems of the state's schools:

—Last year 30 school districts went broke and had to ask the state for money to continue operations.

—More than 60 per cent of the bond and tax elections for local education failed last year.

—Enrollment increased statewide, but 9,000 fewer teachers were hired by school districts.

—The number of classroom teachers was reduced in 26 per cent of the school districts.

—Special classes for handicapped children took a 25 per cent cut in 1970-71.

—Transportation funds and numbers of available textbooks were cut in 15 per cent of the school districts.

—Among all 50 states, California ranks 22nd in expenditures per pupil.

—California is 42nd out of the 50 states in average class size.

—The state ranks 23rd in literacy and 30th in state aid to local education.

SENATE MAJORITY leader George Moscone, D-San Franicsco, says, "Quality education is no longer a fact of life in California."

Assemblywoman Yvonne W. Brathwaite, D-Los Angeles, gets closer to the point. She complains "the schools are not doing the job.'' She has just herded through the Assembly a bill which would allow parents to do something about a school which isn't doing the job.

The Brathwaite bill provides for an education opportunity program whereby parents of elementary or junior high school students in a school whose grade achievement level is one year or more below the statewide mean have a right to obtain a transfer to a public school whose grade achievement level is higher. The program would begin on an experimental basis in Los Angeles County.

THE SCHOOL PEOPLE are still not reacting to change the negative image they have created. In the old days the educator was often the only person in a community with a higher education. Today there is a whole new ball game, with too many people around with better qualifications and higher degrees who are not overwhelmed by the old-fashioned school master who thinks he knows what is best for little Johnny.

Little Johnny's parents have found out he can't read, he can't write, and he can't add—and the property tax bill keeps going up without producing any improvement. The boards of education and their staffs run into the Brown Act when they try to hold secret meetings when challenged by any major sector of their communities.

Never buy what you do not want because it is cheap; it will be dear to you. — Thomas Jefferson.

WILLIAM S. WHITE

President Victim Of Extremists For Enforcing Law On Desegregation

WASHINGTON — Fun is fun and politics is a game of relaxed standards, indeed — a game where almost anything goes. All the same, the whipsawing of President Nixon in which pro-and-anti-civil rights extremists are so happily engaged is anything but funny; and, worse yet, the ultimate victims will be the schoolchildren of this country.

When Gov. George Wallace of Alabama on the right wing mockingly "joins" the President's sensible opposition to forced school busing in its more ridiculously unworkable forms he seeks, of course, to cause the moderates of the country to bracket Mr. Nixon with Wallace racism in a clever ploy of forced guilt-by-association. But then no one expects anything else from the Wallace type of mind.

When the United States Civil Rights Commission cries out from the left that the President is "undermining the desegration effort" it is shockingly irresponsible, totally unfair — and pouring tons of water upon the wheel of George C. Wallace.

FOR THE CRIME of the administration here is precisely the crime of enforcing what is the law of the land — no less and yet no more. This is not, of course, the first nor yet the fiftieth time that the either/or people from both sides of this tragic national problem have walked with hobnailed boots over the infinitely delicate fabric of a responsible, and thus an effective, means for school integration.

Over and over they have done the same thing in the Senate. Over and over the patient men who have sweated to bring forth operable civil rights legislation that would be even-handed to all sections of the nation have seen their work smashed into the dirt by these same hobnailed boots from left and right. Over and over the men of reason have picked up the pieces and started all over again.

This is what President Nixon has tried to do— this is all he has tried to do. But before the public concludes that surely his own civil rights commission would not denounce him without cause, let the public cast its mind back a few years. No rational man could deny that the documented record provesthat President Lyndon B. Johnson did more for real racial justice than had all the presidents before him put together, not even excluding Abraham Lincoln.

IF MR. NIXON is conservative on this matter — as in the good sense of that term he is — Mr. Johnson was so liberal on it as to raise concern even among some of his liberal advisers. But this did not save him from the either/or treatment. He, too, had trouble from a civil rights group of his own, which brought in an indictment of the whole of the white race in a famous edict that "white racism" was responsible for all the racial ills of this nation.

The spirit of this incredible oversimplification is now in substance being adopted by the Nixon Commission on Civil Rights. Its naivete is equally incredible. It is difficult to see how grown men, so long as they are not the prisoners of sheerly emotive nonthought, could possibly bring in the verdict that these men have issued.

But isn't President Nixon "playing politics" with integration in that he has a "southern strategy" for the 1972 campaign? Yes, of course, he is; of course, all presidents do, in the sense that he would like to avoid an alienation of a whole region; of course, in part for "political" reasons but also because we surely need no more divisiveness in this country than we have already got.

There is no issue of true integration here. There is only on the one side a far-out "demand" for throwing out the baby with the bath water. There is only on the other side a far-out "demand" to leave the baby in the bath until it drowns. One hopes that the U.S. Civil Rights Commission is enjoying its promotion of Wallaceism by making, through its own extremism, his clamors seem to have a germ of justice. Responsible men, party labels or ng party labels, are not enjoying it at all.

CAPITOL REPORT

Bagley Blows His Cool, Shows Arrogance Of Office

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — There is nothing more arrogant than an arrogant public servant. It's a failing which creeps over certain individuals when they forget that a legislative house is not a home.

Cicero called it "the arrogance of officialdom." There are times when Assemblyman Bill Bagley can be the most arrogant of them all.

Bagley, 43, is a Republican, a veteran lawmaker from San Rafael, and chairman of the Assembly Welfare Committee. This year it was his job to steer a welfare reform bill through the Assembly and then serve as a member of a bipartisan committee of assemblymen and state senators which worked out a compromise package with the governor.

It was a pressure cooker situation. Long hours of negotiating. Tense moments, strained tempers. Give and take. You're smiling but you're not really smiling. It was that kind of scene.

EARLIER IN THE YEAR Governor Reagan gave his blessing to a statewide group called the California Citizens' Committee for the Governor's Welfare Reform Program. He gave it his blessing and a bit of a shove. Then it took off on its own and built up to the point where it had 126 separate and local committees up and down the state, Democrats and Republicans.

During the heat of the negotiations, a member of the citizens committee sent the legislators involved a rather plainly worded telegram. Among other things it said:

"We are appalled at your apparent lack of fiscal and social responsibility. Every day that you delay supporting the governor's comprehensive welfare reform program costs taxpayers one million dollars.

"Who do you really represent — yourself or the citizens of California who are demanding meaningful welfare reform, not mere welfare revision?

"Quit playing politics and back the governor's program."

NOW, THEM IS STRONG sentiments, the expression of frustration from one angry taxpayer, someone who wanted straight answers and strong action on a serious public issue.

Bill Bagley is no dumbbell. At UC Berkeley he was Phi Beta Kappa. Class valedictorian, even. He has a fine mind. Trouble is, he is also irascible. Once in a while, in the maze of synapses and nerve circuits that cram his brain, he blows a fuse. When that occurs he confuses brilliance with arrogance. And that, as they say, just doesn't compute — not in a public servant, Bill-baby.

Anyhow, Bagley blew his top. He shot back a telegram of his own. And it was arrogant. Boy, was it arrogant. Here are some gems from Bagley's wire:

"I AM LITERALLY appalled at your most inappropriate, aggravating and exascerbating (sic) telegram just received. We Republican and Democratic legislators alike have been working for a solid month to make some sense out of welfare reform."

(That's part of the problem, Bill-baby. Welfare has been a running sore for several years now. But, back to the telegram.)

"You, however, send idiot telegrams at the very time we are in the final process of agreement on a program that will work."

And furthermore, said Wild Bill to newsmen in discussing the exchange of telegrams, "I am getting sick and tired of the gratuitous sniping indulged in by many unknowledgeables directed at the legislative process . . .

". . . Of more importance, the mental attitude of those who would abuse the legislative process, and ignore its important leavening function, is frightening in our democratic society."

BUT YOU'RE RIGHT, Bill-baby. This is a democracy. That's demokratia — from the Greek, you know. Demos —the people; Kratein — to rule. Literally translated it means "the people shall rule."

And as long as we have a representative democracy, you're just going to have to put up with people. Ya gotta love the people, Bill. They're not really stupid. After all, they put you in office.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JEFF GREER

Nixon Job Program May Benefit Wornum's University Students

Some of County Supervisor Michael Wornum's students may be the first employees under President Richard M. Nixon's new "catalyst" job-finding program, approved by the board of supervisors Tuesday.

Wornum is teaching a crash course in local government at University of California, for out-of-work aerospace engineers and other professional men. The students are getting five weeks of intensive training in what local government's all about, and how they might be able to fit their skills to public service.

The class toured the Marin County Civic Center last week. Students expressed as much fascination with Frank Lloyd Wright's architecture as with what went on inside the huge structure.

ANOTHER OF President Nixon's new ideas — the wage freeze — has County Auditor Michael Mitchell on the horns of a dilemma. If he erroneously overpays someone come payday on Aug. 31, he's liable to civil prosecution and a $5,000 fine. He and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney are scratching for fast but accurate answers. So many other people are on the telephones to the federal authorities that even congressmen are waiting four hours to talk to the proper officials, Maloney reported.

Marin's judges weren't due to get their raises until September. I wonder if any of them might find the man in the White House in contempt of court for blocking the raises?

TAXPAYERS' MONEY was spent for the shiny brass cuspidors the Local Agency Formation Commission gave the Town of Ross last week. All of $20, it was, according to Acting County Administrator John F. Barrows. He explained that LAFC had been meeting in Ross's venerable town hall for months, while night meetings at the Civic Center were curbed for security reasons.

Grateful for the use of Ross facilities, the commissioners asked Councilman Roy Farrington Jones — who also is an LAFC commissioner — if the town would like a gift of appreciation. Jones noted that the commissioners had complained that lights in the council chamber left something to be desired, and would LAFC like to put in new lights, at a cost of, say, $900?

Deciding this was too rich for their blood, the commissioners compromised on the gaboons as befitting the hall's turn-of-the century decor. It is the only meeting hall around that still provides cuspidors instead of ash trays in the audience section. But LAFC specified the new brass objects-de-something-or-other were for the council's exclusive use.

IT'S STRANGE HOW fads sweep government as well as the folks it serves. Supervisor Wornum recalled the other day how during 1970 budget talks, a motion to finance bicycle trails couldn't get a second. This year, he recalled, the county administrator recommended $25,000 for bike trails. Wornum moved to double the sum and Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. said he would second the motion if Wornum would amend the amount to $75,000. "One is always sort of behind-hand on matters of public interest," Wornum mused.

ART BUCHWALD

It's Not The Initial Payment, It's The Upkeep That Hurts

(By popular request we are printing Art Buchwald's famous article on Barbie dolls.)

I have nothing against toy companies. In their own way, they bring happiness to the hearts of our young ones and they give employment to thousands of people all over the country. It is only when they try to bankrupt us that I feel we should speak out. If my situation is duplicated around the nation, every father who has a daughter between the ages of 4 and 12 is going to have to apply for relief. This is what happened:

MY 7-YEAR-OLD daughter requested, four months ago, a Barbie doll. Now as far as I'm concerned one doll is just like another and since the Barbie was only $3 I was happy to oblige.

I brought the doll home and thought nothing more of it until a week later when my daughter came in and said, "Barbie needs a negligee."

"So does your mother," I replied.

"But there is one in the catalogue for only $3," she cried.

"What catalogue?"

"The one that came with the doll."

I GRABBED the catalogue and much to my horror discovered what the sellers of Barbie were up to. They'll let you have the doll for $3, but you have to buy clothes for her at an average of $3 a crack. They have about 200 outfits, from ice-skating skirts to mink jackets, and a girl's status in the community is based on how many Barbie clothes she has for her doll.

The first time I took my daughter to the store I spent $3 on a dress for her and $25 to outfit her Barbie doll.

A week later my daughter came in and said, "Barbie wants to be an airline stewardess."

"So let her be an airline stewardess," I said.

"She needs a uniform. It's only $3.50."

I gave her the $3.50.

BARBIE DIDN'T STAY a stewardess long. She decided she wanted to be a nurse ($3), then a singer in a nightclub ($3), then a professional dancer ($3).

One day my daughter walked in and said, "Barbie's lonely."

"Let her join a sorority," I said.

"She wants Ken."

"Who is Ken?"

She showed me the catalogue. Sure enough, there was a doll named Ken, the same size as Barbie, with crew-cut hair, a vinyl plastic chest and movable arms and legs.

"If you don't get Ken," my daughter cried, "Barbie will grow up to be an old maid."

SO I WENT OUT and bought Ken ($3.50). Ken needed a tuxedo ($5), a raincoat ($2.50), a terry-cloth robe and an electric razor ($2), tennis togs ($3), pajamas ($1.50) and several single-breasted suits ($27).

Pretty soon I had put up $400 to protect my original $3 investment.

Then one evening my daughter came in with a shocker.

"Barbie and Ken are getting married. Here is the list of wedding clothes they'll need as well as a picture of Barbie's dream house."

"Seven ninety-five for a house?" I shouted. "Why can't they live on a shelf like the rest of your dolls?"

THE TEARS STARTED to flow. "They want to live together as man and wife."

Well, Barbie and Ken are now happily married and living in their dream house with $3,000 worth of clothes hanging in the closet. I wish I could say that all was well, but yesterday my daughter announced that Midge ($3) was coming to visit them. And she doesn't have a thing to wear.

Jail Time On Weapons Counts

Arturon Lopez Martinez, 28, of no known address, has been sentenced to 30 days in Marin County Jail for carrying a concealed weapon and exhibiting a deadly weapon.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court also placed him on probation for one year.

Martinez was arrested Jan. 4 at the Lion's Share restaurant in San Anselmo after police said he approached a Daly City man, pointed a .38 caliber pistol at the man's head and cocked the hammer several times. times.

He was booked on suspicion of felony assault with a deadly weapon, in addition to the other charges, but only the misdemeanors were filed against him.

A misdemeanor charge of being drunk in public was dismissed in April when Martinez pleaded guilty to the two weapons charges.

Tax Rate Session

The Rohnert Park City Council will meet in special session today at 5 p.m. to set the property tax rate for 1971-72.

Assembly Panel To Probe Coast Logging

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Natural Resources and Conservation Committee will investigate logging operations in the North Coast redwood country, Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti announced yesterday.

The Van Nuys Democrat said he has asked committee chairman Edwin L. Z'berg, D-Sacramento, for an "in-depth study of the North Coast's forest resources, with particular emphasis upon timber operations and their impact on soils, watersheds, fish and wildlife, and recreation values."

Moretti said he was "absolutely amazed to see how simply and routinely a major departure from usual timbering methods was handled by the state Board of Forestry."

He was referring to the board's approval of a plan allowing the Simpson Timber Co. to clear-cut 146,000 acres of North Coast trees, including redwoods, during a 28-year period. After criticism from state officials, legislators and conservationists, the board rescinded its approval upon the request of the company.

Moretti said Z'berg plans to hold hearings on the matter.

A committee headed by Z'berg conducted a study of state forestry practices between 1965 and 1967 but legislation resulting from the study failed to win approval.

Card Insurance Is Voided By Law

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Fred P. Rooney, D-Pa., says the Federal Trade Commission should require insurance companies to notify policy holders that their credit card liability insurance now is obsolete—and to refund any premiums paid for such insurance since Jan. 25.

Rooney said the new truth in lending law limits a credit card holder's liability to no more than $50.

Larkspur Councilmen Irked By Dust At Shopping Center Site

The Larkspur City Council last night accused a supermarket developer of creating a "dust bowl" and asked why the developer has torn down trees it said it would save.

SDC Inc. of Newport Beach, developer of an Alpha Beta food market on Magnolia Avenue and Doherty Drive, has been grading a hillside and Mayor Earl J. O'Grady said he has received many complaints from residents about the dust.

O'Grady, who said he has witnessed the dust himself, added, "Dust has been flying over Hell and half of Georgia."

John W. Appleton, building and planning superintendent, said the city has had a "constant enforcement problem with SDC."

He pointed out, however, that SDC can't keep all the dust down because when the developer hoses the dust, the next time the tractor grades it goes below the level of water saturation.

To the question why the trees SDC said it would save are being uprooted and removed, Appleton said there was no restriction on the removal of trees. He said SDC had decided it would cost too much, $37,000, to save the trees.

He reported that SDC is in the process of developing landscape plans which will be ready in September to replace the trees it has removed.

The council set the tax rate for 1971-72 at $1.895 per $100 assessed valuation, the same rate as last year's and five cents below the projected rate for this year. City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said five cents could be chopped off the projected rate because the assessment rolls were more than anticipated.

An underground public utilities district was approved by the council to be located on Magnolia Avenue between Post Street and Doherty Drive.

The cost to the five property owners in the district was estimated at $2,441 with the lions share of $1,062 being assessed to Alfred G. Drumright who owns three houses in the district.

The Larkspur City Council also:

INSURANCE — Announced the city is eligible for the National Flood InsuranceProgram and should apply by Dec. 31 for coverage of damage and destruction caused by floods and mud slides.

REVENUE — Established $597,863 as the amount to be raised from property taxes for 1971-72.

BIKE REGISTRATION — Asked the city attorney to draft an ordinance for bike registration for its Sept. 1 meeting.

PAY —Deferred to Dec. 1 the matter of incentive pay for city employees.

CONSULTANTS — Adjourned to Aug. 31 for a special meeting to interview Sedway and Cook Co. and Mocine and Williams Co., both of San Francisco, the planning consultants the planning commission recommended to the council. The commission chose the two out of 14 applicants, and the council will have to pick one of the firms to review the city's general plan.

Officer Dies From Gun Wounds; 7 Blacks Held

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI)—A veteran police detective died early today of a gunshot wound suffered when he and two other law officers were cut down in a shootout with a controversial black separatist group.

Authorities said they were considering murder charges against seven members of the "Republic of New Africa" who were arrested Wednesday after they were flushed from their headquarters by tear gas.

Lt. William L. Skinner, 36, was shot in the head as he and other officers approached the temporary headquarters of the group to check on a report that a young black fugitive was hiding out there.

A fellow policeman and an FBI agent also were shot, but neither was wounded seriously. Patrolman Billy Crowell, 45, was shot in the left shoulder and FBI agent William R. Stringer, 44, was shot in the thigh.

None of the blacks in the house was wounded in the 20 minute exchange of gunfire. The seven, five men and two young women, gave themselves up after officers threw tear gas into the headquarters house.

The president of the RNA, Richard Henry, 42, of Detroit, and three other blacks were arrested at another house a few blocks away.

The other seven, ranging in age from 19 to 26, were held without bond on charges of assault and battery with intent to kill. District Attorney Jack Travis said they would be charged with murder if any of the three officers died.

The "Republic of New Africa" has been the center of controversy since it moved into Mississippi last spring and announced it had acquired a 20 acre site near here for the "capital" of its black nation.

Traffic Jam Due To Money Sack

Richard Halpin of nearby Santee, a messenger for the state Division of Highways, lost $10,300 in cash and checks he was taking to a bank when he drove off with the canvas sack still on the trunk of his car. He discovered the sack was missing when he reached the bank.

The more honest scamperers turned over $380 in cash and $6,800 in checks to the patrolmen, but at least $2,060 in cash and a $1,000 check were missing.

U.N. FELLOWSHIP

Jamaican Planner In Marin

By BETTY FROST

"Jamaica is similar to Marin," said Mrs. Norma Swaby, who has been an intern with the Marin County Planning Department since June.

Mrs. Swaby is here under a United Nations Fellowship. Her studies place special emphasis on control of subdivisions. She is a planner with her government's planning department in Kingston.

A team from the United Nations is working for Jamaica, Norma explained. Long a British colony, Jamica gained independence in 1962.

The soft-spoken Jamaican woman began her work with the island's planning department 14 years ago as a draftsman, after having learned drafting in a government architectural office. She was advanced to planner, working directly under the planning chief.

"We are the only planning department in Jamaica, an area of 4,000 miles," she said. Some of the island is not developed, because it is too mountainous, and this area is government owned.

HER DEPARTMENT is directly involved in all development. Goals in building are determined, in part, by the climate. Because it is damp and hot, with heavy rainfall, and the possibility of both hurricanes and earthquakes, timber construction is not practical. Reinforced concrete construction is preferred. Outside of Kingston the terrain is hilly and one problem of development is to get roads into the hills.

The growth of subdivisions in Jamaica is just beginning, so her observations of Marin developments have great interest for the planner. High rise has just started in Kingston, and "we will just have to see what is happening," Mrs. Swaby said.

She has been greatly interested in methods used by the county planning department, and while here has been a keen observer of the whole political process. She has been on field trips with members of the department, and attends planning commission and board of supervisors meetings, where planning matters are involved. Her observations will make up a report to the United Nations.

Norma would not reveal any specific changes which her Marin experience might suggest for improvements in her homeland. There is such a difference in governments. "First I will have to see the people in my planning government," she said.

Her husband also works for the government, and they have two sons, 18 and 17. The older boy is now out of school and working, while the younger boy attends school in Kingston, where the family lives. Their favorite family recreation is swimming in the warm Caribbean Sea.

AS A WORKING mother she has been able to have assistance at home, although now, she notes, domestic help is becoming scarce because of migration to England, Canada and the United States and increased employment of women in factories.

How does the Jamaican woman feel about women working? "It is a necessity that a woman should work. Women have to work. They are needed," she said firmly.

She has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Thompson in Fairfax. Their kindness has made being with the Thompsons, ' 'a home away from home."

She will complete her internship at the end of August and return to Jamaica. "This is the furthest away I have ever been," Norma confided, "and for the longest time. I am coming to the stage where I think I should go home."

PLANNING INTERN Mrs. Norma Swaby of Kingston, Jamaica, checks subdivision files in the Marin Counting Planning Department Office at the Civic Center. She has been studying planning methods here under a United Nations Fellowship.

THIRD GRADE

Julie Eisenhower To Teach School

By WALT SMITH

ATLANTIC BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Julie Nixon Eisenhower, now a Navy wife, begins her teaching career here next month but her Secret Service guards won't be in the classroom.

Some of the children, including third grader Mary Claire Holloway, aren't quite sure what Secret Service men are, but they're anxious for the school bell to ring to find out.

Mary Claire is a bouncy eight-year-old blonde who looks ahead, and she has another reason for wanting to be in Julie's class—she believes she "may be easier than other teachers."

The impish Miss Holloway didn't mention any of the "other teachers," but her mother, Mrs. Margaret Holloway, also teaches third grade. Mrs. Holloway said Mary Claire will not be in her class so she stands a good chance to be assigned to Julie.

LIKE THE students, Mayor William Howell is pleased to have Julie in the school system and regards the presence of the Eisenhowers as a plus for Atlantic Beach, a suburb of Jacksonville and about a 10 minute drive from Mayport Naval Station, where Ensign David Eisenhower's ship is based.

Julie, wyo earned her masters degree this summer, will teach at Atlantic Beach elementary, a tan, one-story building with palm trees clustered on the front lawn. The school is just four blocks from the Eisenhowers' gray-shingled garage apartment, situated on a narrow, quiet street about 200 feet from the beach.

The integrated school, which includes grades one through five, has approximately 1,000 students, and about 12 per cent of the student body is black.

Julie, who will earn $7,500 a year —$200 more a year than her ensign husband —will attend a school workshop Aug. 23, and classes will start Sept. 7.

THE WHITE House originally announced that Julie would be assigned to the fourth grade, but she was switched to the third grade when a fourth grade teacher changed her mind about retiring and decided to remain on the staff.

"She will actually be teaching children from both grades," said principal Ray Bailey, who explained that students are grouped by performance levels, rather than by grade, in certain subjects. Julie's homeroom class, however, will be made up of third graders.

Bailey, who interviewed Julie for the job, sees no special problems for the president's daughter. "She seems to be such a mature person and so well in command of herself that I don't anticipate any problems at all," he said.

Bailey said there had been no requests from parents asking that their children be placed in Julie's class, but he said the children are so "enthused" that it "seems like Christmas time" for them.

ONE SPECIAL problem Bailey now has involves the Secret Service men. Julie has asked that they not stay in the classroom with her, so officials are now considering reserving a special room for them inside the school, or perhaps setting up a trailer outside.

The other alternative would be to have them wait in their cars, which could prove wearing and warm during the hot, Florida fall days.

Mrs. Frances Ward, a fourth grade teacher with 26 years experience, said she feels the children will "be quite excited because of the Secret Servicemen and the fact she is the president's daughter."

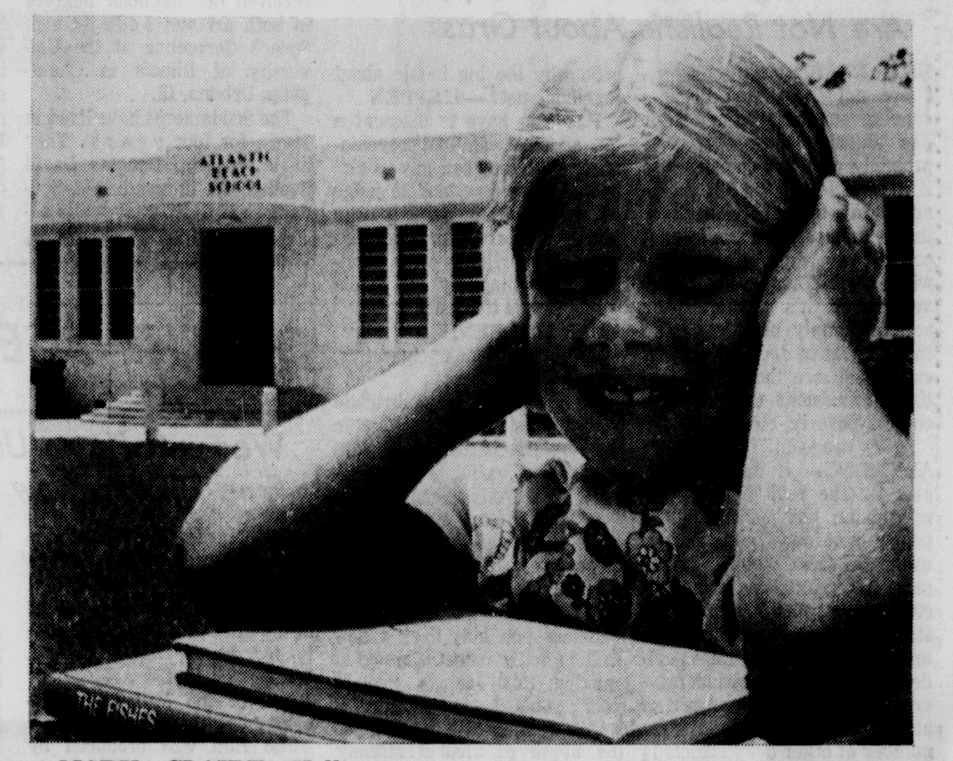

"Of course, children get excited about things very easily and then they settle down and accept it as the norm. If she is a good teacher and maintains discipline, the parents will be delighted with her as they would any other teacher."

Bearing out Mrs. Ward's views, to a degree, is eight year old Cindy Minton, an Eisenhower neighbor and one of the children who is hoping to be assigned to Julie's class.

"I THINK she's a nice lady and I think she's going to be a good teacher," said Cindy, adding that she didn't think class would be "very much different because she's just another human being."

The announcement that Julie had been assigned to Atlantic Beach elementary drew criticism from about 70 members of the Duval Teachers Association. They charged Julie was getting a "plum" spot and that most first year teachers were assigned to ghetto schools.

Julie responded by saying she was "annoyed" at the criticism, and the school administration denied she was getting favored treatment. Julie later rejected an invitation to join the teachers association, pointing out that since her husband was in the Navy she was uncertain how long they would be living here.

MARY CLAIRE Holloway, a bouncy 8-year-old, pauses in front of Atlantic Beach, Fla., Elementary School where she will enter the third grade. It's unlikely that Mary Claire will be assigned to her mother's class, which makes her think that she will get the other third grade teacher, Julie Nixon Eisenhower.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Tiburon Couple Celebrate in Scandinavia

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Long of Tiburon celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with their first trip to Europe. Returning last week from a 17-day guided tour of Norway, Sweden and Denmark, they report enjoying the Nordic beauty and English-speaking Scandinavians.

' 'Norway is the most beautiful country I have ever seen," says Mrs. Long, who liked Bergen's narrow roads and wide walking streets. Citizens wash sidewalks and dogs aren't allowed to run loose, she says.

They returned to their Belveron Gardens home where they moved three years ago after a disappointing year trying apartment living. They reared four children in a larger Mill Valley house. They enjoy their small house in a neighborhood "good for both older people and young families."

Their children are Walter Long of Southern California, Mrs. Fred Gibbs of Sunnyvale, Mrs. Lee Wiese of Greenbrae and the late Jerry Long.

The Longs married 50 years ago in Omaha, Neb., and moved to Mill Valley in 1939 when Mr. Long accepted a salesman's position in San Francisco with Blake, Moffitt and Towne Paper Co.

"One of the first things we did was take our children to the World's Fair on Treasure Island," says Mrs. Long, who remembers when Highway 101 was "just a two-lane road" and her husband commuted on a Mill Valley train to the Sausalito ferry.

"There were not many cars then. We didn't have one when we first came to Mill Valley. I walked down from the hills to school and stores delivered our groceries," she remembers.

Although not a "woman's-club woman" Mrs. Long is a Mill Valley Golf Club founding member. It was converted from a private club in 1940.

"We used to ask people for a dollar to join. Imagine!" she says.

Mrs. Long started its Duplicate Bridge Club in 1949 which she still directs.

She has enjoyed many good programs at the Outdoor Art Club and attended Community Congregational Church.

Mr. Long is an ardent golfer who rises at 4:30 a.m. to breakfast with friends before golfing.

The Longs' formula for a happy marriage is "a lot of hard work."

TALKING OVER their recent trip to Norway, Sweden and Denmark are Mr. and Mrs. Lou Long of Tiburon who are celebrating 50 years of marriage. They were married in Omaha, Neb. on July 30, 1921 and reared four children in Mill Valley.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Can't Legislate Morals' People Are Not Realistic About Grass

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not for illegal drugs—copping out and turning on is like slashing one's wrists. I probably wouldn't smoke grass if it were legalized. But if others want to kill themselves, that's their choice; we cannot coninue to enforce morality with laws. Thus, your "wait and see if it's dangerous or not" is simply brushing aside the moment of decision with an excuse—as are those presidential commissions to study gun control, poverty, etc.

ANY drug—in fact almost ANYTHING— is dangerous if abused. The real killer is not marijuana, but alcohol. While police hunt down college pot-users and treat them as criminals, this year alone, some 60,000 Americans will be slaughtered on the highway—and 50 percent of all fatal accidents are caused by drunk drivers. The estimated number of alcoholics compared to the number of other drug addicts is about 100 to one.

If anyone doubts alcohol's affect upon society, just think of all the bars, night clubs, liquor stores, etc. that are in one small crummy town. Think of the job absenteeism caused by drinking; the four-martini lunches that take all afternoon, the marriage breakups, family problems.

So why the big hassle about legalizing pot? —STEPHEN

P.S. You have to discount a lot of what anti-pot psychiatrists say. They see only "sick" people, therefore tend to judge all users by their patients (who abuse, and are psychotic anyway). If marijuana were legalized, the majority of people would smoke it sensibly.

DEAR STEPHEN:

. . . As they smoke cigarettes, no doubt?

What many of you altruistic "can't legislate morals" people don't realize is that if pot were legalized it would be big business. While you are shouting for the "right to grow grass in your back yard," one company has already copyrighted the name "Acapulco Gold"—to have a jump on competitors.

Before you kids back a new million dollar industry aimed at making this country "go to pot," you'd better be sure it won't compound our troubles (as abuse of alcohol already has). —H.

DEAR HELEN:

My boy friend told me that nine-tenths of girls don't stay virgins after they've reached high school. Is he right? — TRUDY

DEAR TRUDY:

That's an ambiguous statement: How long after?

If your b.f. implies that nine-tenths of girls become non-virgins while still of high school age, he's wrong—by perhaps 65 percent.

And if he is using unproved statistics as persuasion, tell him it's still "ladies' choice," and you'll make up your own mind, thank you. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

41ST BIRTHDAY SUNDAY

Princess Margaret Has More Time For Doing Her Own Thing

By MARGARET SAVILLE

LONDON (UPI) —For Princess Margaret, life at 40 is a time for doing more of her own thing.

The years that have added a few pounds and just a whisper of a double chin to the royal figure also have lifted from her shoulders much of the royal responsibility.

The event itself was indicative. Last year, she celebrated the event with the rest of the Royal Family. She found herself involved in a controversy over her latest portrait. The British Broadcasting Corp. (BBC) trumpeted the doings over a nationwide radio and television network.

FOR THIS birthday, Margaret and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon — still married, despite a recurring spate of rumors — were quietly and privately vacationing in Sardinia as guests of the Aga Khan.

Later there will be an official Royal birthday party. But it will be a small thing, Buckingham Palace says, and even the date is uncertain.

Princess Margaret remains fifth in line to the throne, behind her sister's four children. But the royal duties she once handled faithfully if not always happily—the charity appearances, the ship launchings—now have fallen to the new generation and Princess Anne, herself 21 on Aug. 15.

"She's tougher than I was," Margaret once said of her niece.

Although she still enjoys an occasional dance into the wee hours, Margaret has gradually cut her ties with the nightclub set in favor of informal dinner parties at her "grace and favor" home in Kensington Palace.

SHE REMAINS close to the Queen Mother, her steadiest friend and confidante during her reported marital rifts, and sometimes sees Princess Anne, with whom she shares an interest in the latest fashions.

But the gap between Buckingham Palace and Kensington Palace is widening. Margaret rarely visits Queen Elizabeth these days, and her meetings with Prince Charles, heir to the throne, are rarer still.

The dark-haired Princess still enjoys the limelight—but often it turns into a glare of reports that her 11-year marriage with photographer Anthony Armstrong-Jones is on the rocks.

This year was no different. At one point, newspapers in the United States carried reports of a romance between Snowdon and Lady Jacqueline Isaacs, 24-year-old daughter of the Marquess of Reading. There were pictures of the two together at a table.

IT TURNED out to be a party involving at least 50 persons — including Princess Margaret herself. But the rumors die hard, although — except for one touchy moment in February, 1967 — the permanence of the marriage never has been really doubted.

Margaret herself, over the years, has changed from the lithe young princess described once as the loveliest in Europe into a matronly figure. She has trouble keeping her weight down, but with her retreat to a more private life it does not seem so important today.

Anguish Dramatics Counts In Bridge Thinker's Performance

Very few of those who think about a bridge hand would get a good review from a drama critic. To begin with, not everybody is physically fitted to the role. For example, in our male-dominated culture women are not taken seriously as deep thinkers. If you want to win an Oscar for your performance as a bridge thinker you must be a serious-faced man of some 50 winters with a gift for registering anguish. The anguish on your partner's face doesn't count.

DISCARDS HEART

South refused the first two rounds of clubs and took the third club, discarding a heart from dummy. His next step was to run the five diamonds, discarding a low heart from his own hand. Then he began to think.

West had discarded the deuce of spades and the deuce of hearts. This didn't tell South any more than he had known at the beginning of the hand. East had thrown two hearts and two spades. This was equally uninformative.

South didn't know whether to finesse with the queen of spades or the queen of hearts for his ninth trick. Naturally, South didn't know that West had calmly blanked the king of hearts.

APPROVED METHODS

South tried all the approved methods of getting the right answer. He rubbed his chin, scratched his head and stared at the ceiling. He even took out a handkerchief and cleaned his eyeglasses.

A more polished practitioner would have risen from the table and paced up and down for a few tense seconds.

POOR SOUTH

Alas for poor South. He was sure to go down no matter which finesse he took. His act was good, but he started it too late.

After winning the third club South should take three top diamonds, ending in his hand. Then he leads his last club, allowing West to take his tricks.

OUT OF DIAMONDS

When West has taken two clubs for a total of four defensive tricks, he must lead a spade or a heart (since he is out of diamonds). Either return gives South a free finesse and his ninth trick. Then South can lead his last diamond to take the rest of dummy's long suit. And South can register satisfaction if he still wants the drama critic's approval.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with two no-trump (22 to 24 points), and the next player passes. You hold:
♠ - J 10 8 7 3
♥ - J 10 9 5 3
♦ - 5
♣ - 10 4.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three spades. If raised to four spades, you will pass. If partner bids three no-trump, you will bid four hearts.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Aug. 19, the 231st day of 1971.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase.

The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter. Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

American elder statesman Bernard Baruch was born Aug. 19, 1870.

On this day in history:

In 1915 two Americans were killed when a German U-boat torpedoed the British liner "Arabi" in the Atlantic.

In 1955 the worst flood to hit the northeastern states killed 200 persons, also destroying or damaging 20,000 homes.

In 1960 U-2 spy plane pilot Francis Gary Powers was convicted in a Russia court and sentenced to 10 years in prison. He was released 18 months later and exchanged for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

A thought for today: Bernard Baruch said, "America has never forgotten, and will never forget, the nobler things that brought her into being and that light her path."

WORD-A-DAY

ADVANCE MAN

Setting The Stage For Airmen Troupe's Visit

By MARY BURNS

A 17-member jazz troupe does not blow into town for a concert without some pre-concert flurry. They send ahead an advance man, like H. Bruce Gilkes, to smooth the way.

Gilkes passed through San Rafael last week on an 18-city swing to confirm plans for the Airmen of Note's fall concert. The Airmen, part of the Air Force Band, will perform at the Veterans Memorial Building Oct. 25.

"The life of an advance man for a touring group isn't all glamour," Gilkes said. "In fact it's not any glamour!"

Twice a year before the Airmen's two concerts, he must contact sponsors in the section of the county through which the airmen will travel, make an itinerary, confirm traveling and living accomodations and go to each city to make final plans.

As one tour ends he sets about planning another.

"The tours must be geographical so that in cities where there is no invitation I will contact schools, businesses or civic groups and convince them that they are doing their city a service by sponsoring the Airmen," he said.

H. BRUCE GILKES
Air Force advance man

"I explain that a sponsoring organization must secure an auditorium, print programs and tickets and see that publicity gets out."

Gilkes prepares the publicity about the jazz performers, including newspaper articles and photos. Concentrated publicity usually begins about three weeks before the Airmen's concert, increasing as the date draws closer.

Gilkes said his tour planning has been fairly uneventful. "Occasionally in my travels I'll run into a city that hasn't got a single empty motel. I've had to back track some days to find a room."

The 26-year-old advance man said the traveling is fun," but it's no vacation trip like people seem to suspect."

His absence from Washington was made more difficult this year because it was the first lengthy separation from his wife of six months. She would like to travel with him, he said, "but she understands that wives are not allowed to travel with the Airmen or their advance man because of the expense.

The secret of being a good advance man is to have a good product to sell, Gilkes said. After listening to his spiel about the Airmen, one could also conclude that part of the secret is being reticent about oneself and loquacious about one's product. Gilkes literally comes alive when he speaks of the Airmen.

"The Air Force Band is reputed to be the most outstanding band in the country," he says proudly. The Airmen of Note was begun by Glenn Miller during the second world war as the Glenn Miller Army Air Corps Band.

The group was reorganized in 1950 after the Army and Air Force split.

Their repertoire now includes Glenn Miller tunes and hard rock. They do not attempt to appeal to any particular age group, Gilkes said.

When they complete their Oct. 13 to Nov. 1 tour they will begin recording for their syndicated radio program, "Serenade in Blue."

Gilkes never played with the Airmen but performed with the Concert Band, another segment of the Air Force Band. He also toured Europe with the Singing Seargents, the chorus of the Band, and was made their unofficial public relations man because of his photographic ability and fluency in several languages.

Later when his present job became vacant he was offered it on the strength of his work with the Sergeants.

Gilkes said the real appeal of the advance man business "is meeting new people more than just traveling." He has met plenty in his travels through Europe, South America, the Pacific Coast states, the South and Midwest. This spring, the Airmen preceded by their advance man, will tour New England.

'Mother Earth' To Return On Tuesday

By GEORGE NEVIN

"Mother Earth," which depicts what America of the 21st Century will be like if wholesale environmental pollution and other social ills are allowed to mushroom at their present rates, returns to San Francisco Tuesday.

The hit musical broke all existing box office records at the Marines' Memorial Theater during its five-week run there in June and July. The new engagement is limited to six weeks.

The show, fresh from a three-week run in Los Angeles, was written by Ron Thronson and Toni Shearer. It is presented by the American Conservatory Theater and Michael J. Parsons. Thronson directs and Miss Shearer has a leading role.

MUSIC

Folk-rock performer Stephen Stills will introduce his new five-piece band tomorrow and Saturday at the Berkeley Community Theater. Also on the bill is the Memphis Horns.

Stills has been an important influence in rock music since his days with the Buffalo Springfield in the mid-1960s. He and fellow Springfield member Neil Young are the backbone of Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young.

Violinist Eudice Shapiro and pianist Leo Smit will present "A Trbute to Igor Stravinsky" Tuesday in Hertz Hall at the University of California at Berkeley. Several Stravinsky suites, serenades and sonatas will be performed.

Frank Zappa and the Mothers of Invention, one of the most innovative rock groups of all time, will hold a concert Wednesday at the Berkeley Community Theater. The Mothers specialize in "total theater" and film presentations which use music to satirize America's rock and roll culture.

OPERA

The Merola Opera Program will present John Gay's "The Beggar's Opera" Saturday and Sunday at the Paul Masson Vineyards at Saratoga.

Set in the time of Toulouse Lautrec, the opera, which originally appeared in 1728, has been the subject of various adaptations, including Kurt Weill's "The Threepenny Opera."

"Tommy," the rock opera first performed by the British group The Who, has moved from Lone Mountain College to larger quarters at the Friends and Relations Hall (formerly the Family Dog) on the Great Highway in San Francisco.

Other attractions:

M. H. de Young Museum — American graphics, reliefs and sculptures from the Gemini Workshop, through Sept. 6; "Architects" through Sunday; "Natzler Ceramics: A Retrospective Exhibition," through Sept. 6.

DRAMA REVIEW

Trainees' Jittors Apparent In 'Liar'

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The Marin Shakespeare Festival Company, taking a short break in its summer schedule, stepped aside last night at the Forest Meadows Amphitheater for a production by the American Conservatory Theater's Summer Training Congress.

To say all was perfection in the troupe's production of Carlo Boldon's "The Liar" would be false. Lines were thrown away right and left and what should have been high comedy in many instances turned out rather slapstick.

However, let's hope it was purely a case of first night jitters by the young actors who are making their bid for apprentice and journeyman status with William Ball's outstanding San Francisco company.

The play, an 18th Century Italian farce, traces the misadventures of Lelio (the liar) in his quest for the hand of a young Venetian lass.

In this production, done in rather campy style, Paul McCarren handles the role of Lelio fairly well, though he was continually rushing his lines.

As another suitor in the madcap love story William Molloy as the dandy Ottavio was often very funny in his ringlet hairdo.

The two marriagable sisters, Terrilee Laby as Rosaura and Jana Bellan as Beatrice were a little too fluttery. They seemed to be caught up in opening and closing their fans.

As the father of the sisters, Paul Perkins as Florindo seemed to be a little lost, while Michael Molloy as Pantalone, Lelio's father was more in command of the situation.

Though in minor roles, James Lavin as Arlecchino, Lelio's servant, and Carole Himelstein as Colombina, the sisters' maid, helped as much as any one to keep things on an even keel.

Perhaps Florindo's words in the second act — "This is getting delicouslycomplicated," — will ring true as the comedy continues its run through the weekend.

"THE LIAR" — Three-act comedy by Carlo Goldoni and adapted by Tunc Yalman. A production of the American Conservatory Theater's Summer Training Congress. Directed by Helaine M. Head. The Cast: Paul Perkins, Florindo; Robert Lowry, Brighella; Terrilee Laby, Rosaura; Jana Bellan, Beatrice; Paul McCarren, Lelio; James Lavin, Arlecchino; Carole Himelstein, Colombina; William Molly, Ottavio; Chuck Martin, draper's apprentice; Michael Routh, Doctor Balanzoni; Michael Molloy, Pantalone; Donovan Scott, a coachman and letter carrier; Sharon McClean, Cleonice and a singer; and Lorraine Laby, a musician.

The furniture for the play was kept simple — long a keynote of the festival's property department. And the costumes, from the ACT wardrobe room, were rich and colorful.

The comedy will be presented again today, tomorrow and Saturday at 8 p.m. and on Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

New Dwelling Zoning Denied

The Independent-Journal reported incorrectly Tuesday that the Corte Madera Planning Commission had supported R-4 multiple dwelling zoning of a 7.5 acre parcel at 200 Tamal Vista Boulevard.

The commission had called for denial of R-4 zoning to Vail and Associates, Mill Valley developers.

Corte Madera Town Council which had granted R-4 zoning to the developers last February, reopened the question Monday night and set discussion by the council for Oct 4.

Jail For Theft From Father

Robert Alexander Donohoe, 31, of no known address, has been sentenced to 59 days in Marin County Jail yesterday for stealing $10 from his father Aug. 8.

Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court also placed him on probation for six months after Donohoe pleaded guilty to reduced misdemeanor charges of battery and petty theft.

He previously had been charged with felony counts of grand theft and armed robbery.

He was arrested after San Rafael police said he beat up his father, Harold M. Donohoe, 70, of San Rafael, and took $10 from him.

STRIKERS GET JOB APPLICATIONS

Striking Independent-Journal employees and newsmen gather outside the I-J plant as a representative of San Francisco Typographical Local 21 (hidden in crowd) obtains job applications inside the plant. The strikers — pressmen and stereotypers as well as printers — were told there were no job openings. They appeared at the plant to say they wanted their jobs back because of a presidential call to end strikes and lockouts. (See story, page 1.)

Appeal Denied On Construction Ban

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The State Water Resources Control Board denied without a hearing today an appeal by the Ross Valley Sanitary District of a ban on new construction imposed by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

Ronald B. Robie, member of the state board, said the district's appeal attacked for the most part procedures used by the regional board in ordering the ban last month. The regional board's actions were strongly defended by Jerome B. Gilbert, executive officer of the state board, Robie said.

The building ban, which excludes Corte Madera and Larkspur, seeks to force the district to halt pollution of Corte Madera Creek through its treatment plant and to stop bypassing the plant in wet weather.

The ban, similar to one imposed in Southern Marin in June, would allow new construction only to the extent that treatment improvements offset discharges from additional sewer connections.

The district can appeal today's decision to a superior court within 30 days, Robie said.

Among the district's complaints was that evidence the district wanted to introduce had been improperly excluded by the regional board, Robie said.

I-J In Error

The Independent-Journal erred yesterday in reporting that Ray W. Foreaker Jr. was spokesman for the county aviation committee before the Board of Supervisors Tuesday. The spokesman was Herbert M. Hanson Jr., chairman of the commission.

5-Day Jail Term Given In Pot Case

Gary Lee Yoder, 25, of San Francisco, has been sentenced to five days in Marin County Jail for being in a place where marijuana was used.

Judge David Menary Jr. of Marin Municipal Court also placed Yoder on probation for one year.

Yoder was originally charged with a felony count of possessing marijuana, but the charge was reduced to the misdemeanor last February.

Yoder was arrested Oct. 6, 1970: when the California Highway Patrol stopped his truck because it lacked an outside mirror.

Plan Panel Postpones Reviews

The Novato Plan Review Committee, with only two members present last night, postponed action on precise development plans for 50 townhouse units and two single family homes at the south end of Libra Drive by Condiotti Construction Co.

The committee also postponed action on plans by Roberts and Aguirre for a mobile home sales facility at the south end of the Highway 101 frontage road serving Schuman Chevrolet.

Both matters will be considered at a special meeting of the committee at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Novato Community House.

Arraignment In Icepick Attack

Florence Times, 34, of Marin City, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a misdemeanor charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

She was to plead to the charge today.

Mrs. Times, who is also known as Florence Gregoire, was arrested Tuesday after she allegedly stabbed her husband, Melvin Times, 43, with an icepick.

Shoreline Veto Means $85,000 In Budget Cuts

Gov. Ronald Reagan's veto yesterday chopped $85,000 from the Shoreline Unified School District's $1,258,397 proposed 1971-72 budget and wiped out nine budget items.

The governor vetoed a bill that would have permitted the district to levy a one-year override tax, which trustees had pegged at 30 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The override was to help the district recoup revenue lost when Point Reyes National Seashore land was taken off the tax roll and agricultural preserves in the district were granted reduced assessments.

Supt. Charles E. McCully said yesterday he hadn't learned exactly why the governor vetoed the bill, though it was reported the governor had said the bill would set a bad precedent.

A portion of the district extends into Sonoma County and the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors had opposed the bill, McCully said.

He said the governor's veto wouldn't affect the 4 per cent wage hike granted to teachers, principals, and and nonteaching employees, but President Nixon's wage freeze might.

Trustees approved the pay increase before the President's pay freeze, but the increased pay checks haven't been issued yet, he said.

A series of items, tentatively placed in the budget pending override approval by the governor, will have to be cut, McCully said.

Scheduled to be cut unless other funding is forthcoming are paving of the road to Tomales High School, $14,000; capital outlay, mainly equipment for shop and home economics, $8,000; two teacher aides, $6,400; half year sabbatical leave for a teacher, $4,000; additional substitute teachers, $4,000; the post of an assistant principal at the high school, $2,500; site improvements, $2,000; custodial position, $1,500; and administrative expenses, $1,000.

McCully said possibly the district could get financial help from other legislation or passage of school tax reform.

He said the wage hikes, once cut from the budget and then restored, weren't affected because the district has funds available to cover them.

McCully estimated that the pay hikes to teachers and principals would cost $22,400 and to nonteaching personnel, $7,000.

The money for the wage hikes came from not replacing Asst. Supt. Anthony Matulich who resigned, a saving of $17,450; a change in the cafeteria operation, saving $6,000; and a higher increase in assessed valuation than expected, $8,000.

The district's tax rate last year was $4.405 and without the override, no change is expected.

Six-Point Program On Sewage

The Advisory Committee for Improvement District A last night adopted a six-point program to plan for future sewage disposal in the southeastern portion of the county.

John T. Schulte, project manager, said that these included a review of reports of the other agencies; determination of the best point of discharge; development of pre-engineering and financial reports; approval of these by the participating agencies; a public presentation of the approved reports and a subsequent bond election.

The committee discussed what type of governmental agency should control the district, but postponed discussion on it until 8 p.m. Sept. 15 at the Marin Municipal Water District office.

Schulte reported that the water district had advanced $85,000 to the improvement district until its taxes are collected. This money was taken from the water district's undistributed reserves.

Otis Interior Appointment Is Termed Premature By Larsen

By MARY LEYDECKER

The appointment of a Ross man, an executive in a land speculating firm, to a Department of the Interior post was still up in the air today as he denied any conflict of interest.

Webster Otis, 36-year-old executive vice president of Larkspur-based Land Investors Research, had been appointed as a special assistant to John W. Larson, new assistant secretary of the Interior and a fellow Ross resident.

Larson, who earlier had phoned the Independent-Journal to announce Otis's appointment, said yesterday by phone that he "wanted to emphasize that no specific position has been offered him." In answer to a question, he agreed that the announcement of the appointment had been premature "under the circumstances."

At issue was Otis's involvement with a huge ranch which the Department of the Interior has tried for some time to buy for the Point Reyes Seashore.

In a prepared statement, Otis said yesterday, "It is public knowledge that I have a small interest in a ranch within the designated boundaries of the Point Reyes National Seashore and this fact was discussed early in negotiations with the Interior (Department)."

He said that if he receives the appointment, "I will divest myself of this and any other interest which might be construed to be in conflict with my responsibilities in the department."

His friend, Larson, said that he had sought to appoint Otis because he had for a long time considered him to be "a man of ability and strong integrity who is able to get jobs done."

Problems over Otis's appointment arose when it was learned that his firm, a company which locates and manages large parcels of property for investors, has an interest in the 2,500-acre Pierce ranch.

Negotiations for the ranch with the Department of the Interior came to a halt some months ago when no agreement could be reached on the price and condemnation is expected. The department reportedly offered a price near the $1,700,000 value set by the county appraiser and the owners held out for more than $5,000,000.

In literature aimed at prospective investors, Land Investors Research is described as a company which "acquires for itself and its investor clients carefully selected land investments with high potentials for appreciation. Land acquisitions of this nature will generally lie in the direct path of urban growth."

The brochure also said that "a substantial tax shelter" is offered its investors.

Also on the list is the 700-acre Marin French Cheese property.

Another parcel acquired for the Point Reyes National Seashore, the Deep Cove ranch, was managed by the company, but land acquisition agent Willis Kriz said the company only acted as brokers in the sale.

The Pierce Ranch, of which Otis estimated he owned less than 2 per cent, is owned by several persons including San Rafael attorney Ann Diamond, according to Gordon Pusser, president of Land Investors Research.

Pusser also said that his company only bought the ranch when the former owner got into a financial bind and offered it at very favorable financing arrangements.

Bike Rider, 34, Hurt In Accident

A bicycle rider was to see his own doctor for scrapes on his right leg received in a bicycle-automobile accident yesterday in San Rafael, police reported.

Harry M. Smith, 34, of 450 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, was riding west on Third Street at 11:25 a.m. when his bicycle was hit by a car making a right turn from Hetherton Street onto Third. Driver of the car, Raymond C. Lyon, 25, of Sonoma, was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Fire Commissioners Deny Jurisdiction

Kentfield Fire District commissioners decided last night there was nothing they could do about a Ross resident's complaints about fire hazards near his home in the Winship Park area.

The problem is entirely in the Ross Fire Department's jurisdiction, the Kentfield board decided, according to Fire Chief Kenneth T. Kamp. C.V. Bradley of Winship Park had written the Kentfield board asking correction of brush and weed hazards.

Philadelphian Denies Guilt In Felonies

John Henry Green Jr., 24, of Philadelphia, Pa., pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to two felony charges stemming from an auto accident Saturday near Mill Valley.

A preliminary hearing was set for Sept. 7 on the charges of driving under the influence of a dangerous drug and failing to stop at the scene of an accident.

The accident occurred when Green stopped suddenly on Shoreline Highway, three miles north of Panoramic Highway, the California Highway Patrol reported. A car driven by Gregory K. Waugh, 29, of San Francisco, was able to stop behind Green, but a highway patrol car behind Waugh was unable to stop and struck Waugh's car, forcing it into Green's car, according to the highway patrol.

The Independent-Journal reported incorrectly Tuesday that Waugh failed to stop and struck Green's car before being struck by the highway patrol car.

Youth Is Treated At Marin General

A 19-year-old San Rafael youth was admitted to Marin General Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in Corte Madera Creek where, he told police, he had attempted to hang himself.

Police said James Wheeler, 401 First Street, suffered possible back and leg injuries when he fell into the creek at about 1:30 a.m. from the footbridge at 202 Butterfield Road.

BADGERS IN A HUFF

Two toothsome badgers, their hackles raised, square off against each other in a cage at the Vilas Park Zoo in Madison, Wisc., proving once again the truth to the folk saying that the small animals have a bad disposition most of the time. Despite their bad humor, badgers are Wisconsin's state animals, the state, in fact, is nicknamed the Badger State.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Progress Cited In Surgery For Retinal Detachment Treatment

Tremendous progress has been made in the treatment of retinal detachment. Eye surgeons select the most suitable procedure. New sophisticated technics give better results, fewer complications and have reduced the hospital stay to a few days. All the nerve elements needed for the reception of vision are contained in the retina. The membrane adheres like wallpaper to the back of the inside of the eye and is held in place partly by the pressure of the orbital fluid. The usual detachment occurs when a hole or tear in the inner layer is followed by a seepage of fluid between the retina and the outer wall of the eye. The retina is lifted away just as water underneath wallpaper would separate it from the wall.

THE BREAK usually arises spontaneously as a result of degeneration of the tissues or from an injury. The latter may stem from a blow on the head or eye, sneezing, coughing, lifting heavy objects or jolting of the body. Following a tear in the retina, the victim sees black spots or flashes of light before the eye.

As the fluid accumulates and separates the layers, the victim suffers a loss of vision, as though a curtain were placed in front of a part of the eye. The symptoms may improve after resting at night, but become more evident during the day when the victim is up and about.

SURGERY IS the treatment and cure. The hole is sealed by irritating the inside of the detached layer with diathermy, lasers or freezing (cryosurgery). These measures lead to the formation of an adhesive scar between the retina and the outer coat of the eye. The fluid is often withdrawn.

Vision returns after the retina is "spot welded" (reattached). To prevent a recurrence, "buckling" may be done. In this technic the eyeball is indented or encircled with a silicone strap that gives the globe an "hour glass' configuration that holds the retina in place.

ODDS ARE EVEN

Mrs. E. writes: I have four daughters anl am expecting. What are my chances of having a son?

REPLY

Fifty-fifty with each pregnancy — regardless of the sex of the previous children. Gamblers are aware of these odds; when flipping a coin, for example, there may be a run of heads, but the chances are still 50 per cent of getting tails on the next toss.

WAGE-PRICE-RENT

Some Freeze Questions Answered

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The President's Cost of Living Council has issued this list of questions and answers on the wage-price-rent freeze:

Taxes

Q. Are state and local tax rates frozen during this period?

A. No.

Q. In cases where surcharges or other sales or excise taxes have been increased, is the ceiling for the price paid by the customer (including these taxes) raised by a like amount?

A. Yes. The price the customer pays is equal to the base price, plus these taxes. This ruling applies to imported goods as well as other goods which are directly taxed.

Prices

Q. May price increases announced prior to Aug. 15 take effect in the future?

A. No. All prices, unless specifically exempted, are frozen according to terms of the order.

Q. Are previously announced increased tuition rates for the 1971-72 school year permitted by the freeze?

A. Yes. These are considered transaction prices, since commitments have been made, and there are a number of cases where payments have been made.

Q. Are stock and bond prices included in the Freeze?

A. No.

Q. Are prices of used commodities, such as used cars, antiques, and resales of housing included in the freeze?

A. Yes.

Q. Are interest rates included in the freeze?

A. No.

Q. Will the freeze apply to insurance rates? A. Yes, and to all other similar fees and rates.

Q. Are rates charged by common carriers and public utilities included in the freeze?

A. Yes, whether regulated by government agencies or set independently.

Q. Are wholesale and retail prices included in the freeze?

A. Yes.

Q. In cases where surcharges or other sales or excise taxes have been increased, is the ceiling for the price paid by the consumer (including these taxes) raised by a like amount?

A. Yes. The price the customer pays is equal to the base price, plus these taxes. This ruling applies to imported goods as well as other goods which are directly taxed.

Q. How do you price new products?

A. Use the price of the most nearly comparable product sold by your closest comparable competitor.

Q. Should records be maintained for other than the specified base period (SEC. 1(b)) if another period is used to establish prices?

A. The Order is interpreted to require this.

Q. How should imports be priced with the imposition of the temporary 10 per cent import surcharge?

A. The additional dollar and cents cost may be passed on to each purchaser.

Q. Is there any price control over exports?

A. No.

Q. If farm prices of "raw agricultural products" are exempt, does this exemption of raw products follow through to retail?

A. Yes, if they move all the way in raw or unprocessed state. A head of lettuce is exempt from farm to housewife. Fresh eggs are not covered. Oranges aren't, but orange juice is. Fresh fish is, but frozen fish isn't.

Q. Does the freeze on prices prevent lowering of prices?

A. No. On the contrary, it is hoped that this will occur.

Wages

Q. Are deferred wage or salary increases which have been negotiated to take effect in the future permitted by the freeze?

A. No.

Q. Are future cost-of-living increases built into wage contracts or provided by management exempt?

A. No. There will be no cost-of-living increases during the 90-day freeze.

Q. Are fees for professional services such as doctors and lawyers included in the freeze order?

A. Yes. No increases in rates or fees for particular services are permitted during the freeze.

Q. How does the freeze affect people who work on commission or piece rates?

A. Commission rates or piece rates cannot be increased over those existing in the base period.

Q. How will wages and salaries be determined for new jobs?

A. Scales will be determined on the basis of comparable jobs within the affected business or firm. If no comparability exists within such entities, such scales will be determined on the basis of comparable jobs in nearby firms.

Q. What effect does the Executive Order have on cost-of-living wage or salary increases ordered by a municipal government and to become effective subsequent to the date of the Executive Order?

A. State and local government are subject to the Executive Order freezing wages and prices.

Q. Are the wages of such state and local governmental employees as firemen, policemen and the like included in the freeze order?

A. They are subject to the freeze just as are all wages in private industry.

Q. Will increases in the salaries of teachers be allowed?

A. If the contract period started before Aug. 15, the salary increase may be granted. If the contract period starts after August 15, the increase is not allowed.

Q. Are Federal Government employees wages and salaries frozen?

A. Yes.

Q. What is the policy on promotions?

A. (a). Bona fide promotions that constitute an advancement to an established job with greater responsibility are allowed. (b). Increases in certified apprentice and learner's rates under programs established prior to Aug. 15 are allowed. (c.) Merit and longevity increases are not allowed.

Rent

Q. How will the rent ceiling be determined for new or previously unrented units?

A. The standard will be that generally prevailing for comparable units in the immediate area.

Q. Are apartment house and other rent fees included in the freeze?

A. Yes.

U.S. Economic Woes Blamed On Viet War

PARIS (UPI)—Xuan Thuy, the chief North Vietnamese negotiator at the Paris peace talks, said today the American lives and resources wasted in Vietnam were the major cause of the current U.S. economic crisis. He said there would be further setbacks unless the United States withdraws.

Both Thuy and deputy Viet Cong negotiator Dinh Ba Thi said the United States was preventing the return of U.S. prisoners of war by failing to reply to the Communist's seven point peace plan. Thi said the POWs could return this year if President Nixon set a firm date for troop withdrawal.

In a statement to reporters before the start of today's 126th session Thuy said, "If the United States delays discussing the peace proposal and delays withdrawing its troops, the return of prisoners of war will similarly be delayed and the United States will suffer more economic and monetary problems."

He spoke of the "waste" of U.S. lives and resources in Vietnam and added:

"It is the major cause of the serious U. S. economic and monetary crisis and of the growing difficulties that the American people have to face in their daily lives."

U.S. deputy negotiator Philip Habib made no mention of the seven-point plan but again called for an immediate ceasefire which would "allow the rule of reason to replace the rule of force."

For the second consecutive week the Communist delegations sent a deputy negotiator to the talks. Chief Viet Cong delegate, Madame Nguyen Thi Binh, who was described as "slightly indsiposed," was replaced by Dinh Ba Thi. The same reason was given last week for the absence of Thuy from the Hanoi delegation.

In his opening statement to the conference, Saigon Ambassador Pham Dang Lamattacked the Communists in familiar style for rejecting American and South Vietnamese proposals for an Indochina-wide cease-fire.

"You agree to stop the fighting only when your political objectives are reached, that is what has emerged clearly from your seven-point peace plan," Lam said.

San Rafael Man To Plead To Grass Charges

Robert Wayne Matheny, 19, of San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on misdemeanor charges of possessing and being under the influence of marijuana.

He was to plead to the charges today.

Search For Rec Manager Set

So far, the district has received 20 applications for the job for which $10,000 has been budgeted, Chairman Carl L. Schaefer said.

Additional applications will be accepted until the end of the week and a screening committee will interview applicants next week.

The board then will review the best applicants, as recommended by the screening committee, at its Aug. 30 meeting and will make its selection at the Sept. 7 meeting, Schaefer said.

Board Accepts A Resignation

Nicasio School District trustees last night accepted the resignation of Edward Iacopi, a teacher at Nicasio School, and agreed to begin interviewing replacements for his position.

Iacopi resigned to accept a teaching position outside Marin County.

The trustees also changed their meeting day from the third to the second Wednesday of each month.

TV IN REVIEW

Chancellor Is Solid News Type

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI)—John Chancellor is the new anchor of the "NBC Nightly News" but anyone who knows him is aware that even above that prestigious title he cherishes the description of reporter.

America is lucky in its top network commentators. In Europe they call them "news readers" and mostly pick them because they look the part. But any of the NBC, CBS, ABC cracks could drop the microphone and rush out to cover anything from a barn burning to a major conference such as the Vietnam talks in Paris (where, as it happens, I last saw Chancellor before this interview.)

Seated in his shirt sleeves in a small office in the RCA Building he was tearing off strips of UPI teleprinter copy and asking shrewd questions about some of the foreign correspondents who contribute to it. The man is a solid professional and NBC is counting on this quality coming through the screen—as indeed it does.

Chancellor said he was pleased with the reaction of the first week of the new format of the news program. After the Chet Huntley-David Brinkley partnership broke up NBC went in last year for what Chancellor called "the troika" — various combinations of Brinkley, Chancellor and Frank McGee that many viewers obviously found confusing.

"Then there was another dumb way of doing it—someone in Washington and me in New York which involved us in production detail of great complexity" he said. "Now I think we've got it right—me alone in New York and Brinkley coming on the show to tear a little bit of skin off people."

Brinkley had, indeed, touched a Washington nerve the night before in two trenchant minutes with a suggestion that any president who had to finance a war with cash and get congressional approval for the money would not be able to engineer a "credit card" conflict such as (he said) Vietnam.

Chancellor said Brinkley has a dream job" in that he can appear on the show or not, any night, as he pleases, go anywhere he wants—live on a kibbutz, for example,—do anything, make a film, tape shows in advance. Anything. And Chancellor said he doesn't know himself until the same night whether Brinkley will be at the beginning, middle or end of the show.

"I don't even know whether he'll be on tonight," he said.

Chancellor said there were a lot of "refinements" still to come and "a long way to go" before he is satisfied with the graphics,—charts—used on the show. He regrets that news is in the ratings race but accepts it as a fact of network life. When I mentioned that ABC-TV thought it would move ahead of NBC in a couple of years he said, with characteristic understatement:

"I view their analysis of the ratings with skepticism."

Aug. 31 Set As Deadline On Tax Bills

Aug. 31 is the deadline for paying taxes on unsecured property rolls and for buying annual dog licenses, Marin County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez warned yesterday.

Tardiness can result in penalties on delinquent tax payments or on late purchase of the dog tags, Fontez noted.

Tax bills on the unsecured property rolls were mailed in April in most cases. Delinquent payments will be subject to a 6 per cent penalty until Jan. 1, 1972, when an additional penalty of 1 per cent a month will be added.

Unsecured property, Fontez explained, consists of belongings not subject to liens — such as business fixtures and small boats, but not including household furnishings, which are exempt.

Until Aug. 31, dog licenses will cost $2.50 for spayed females and $5 for all other dogs. A flat delinquency charge of $3 will be added to all licenses Sept. 1, Fontez said.

Dog licenses are available from Fontez's office in the Marin County Civic Center, from all city halls, and from the firehouse at Point Reyes Station, Fontez said. Dog owners must supply proof that the dog has received rabies vaccination within the last two years, to buy a license.

Big Gambling Ring Smashed

NEW YORK (UPI)—A $50 million-a-year gambling operation police say is linked to reputed underworld overlord Carlo Gambino has been smashed by Brooklyn police. Eleven men and three women were arrested.

Brooklyn District Attorney Eugene Gold said Tuesday the police raids were directed against the gambling ring's headquarters which included a figure room —a place where bets are computed —five wire rooms, and two answering services, all in his borough.

The alleged ringleader of the syndicate, Anthony Ruggiano, 44, and 10 others still were being sought, Gold said. He said Ruggiano was a close associate of Gambino.

Classes Invited To Faire

Teachers whose classes are studying the Renaissance period have been invited to bring their students free of charge to the Renaissance Pleasure Faire, which will open Labor Day weekend at Black Point.

Operators of the fair said that the offer was limited to fifth through 12th grade classes. Teachers may obtain further information from the Renaissance Center office in San Francisco.

Fair operators also said that four Marin craftsmen will be among the 150 artisans selected out of 500 applicants to participate in the fair.

They are William Creitz of Bolinas, a potter; Vincent Taylor of San Rafael, glass stainer; Judy McClard of Mill Valley, a seamstress, and Jason Cristoble of Larkspur, a candlemaker.

School Work Contract Awarded

The Petaluma Board of Education yesterday awarded the construction contract for an addition to Rancho Cotate High School to Rapp Construction of Santa Rosa at the low bid of $295,800.

Second in the list of seven bidders was Fostmeier Construction at $298,970.

The project will add eight classrooms and will permit a total enrollment of 1,000 students when completed in late spring of 1972. Tennis courts and added parking facilities will also be included.

In other action, the board approved the purchase of 1.11 acres adjacent to Penngrove School for additional playground area. Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said the land would be purchased from the Maass family for $9,500.

Proposal On Car Safety Devices

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Owners of commercial vehicles, such as trucks and buses, operated across state lines would be prohibited from removing factory-installed safety devices from the vehicles under a new government proposal.

The Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety announced the proposed ruling Tuesday and said opponents of the idea would be given until Oct. 15 to formally present their objections to the government. The proposal would be written into the federal regulations after that date unless the bureau changes its mind.

The safety devices involved include such items as seat belts and specified wheel rims.

CALLING ALL
CAMERA FANS

Learning What Not to Shoot

Vacation pictures are quite often taken in busy surroundings, whether you are visiting a popular tourist attraction or exploring the sights of a strange city. That busy atmosphere can be attractive . . . or it can spoil your photographs.

Too often we snap the camera shutter as soon as what we want to photograph is properly composed within the frame. In our impatience we don't see that garbage can or truck that is just coming into the picture, the street litter that will spoil the effect, or perhaps a telephone pole at one edge of the composition.

Learn to look not only at what you want to photograph, but also at what you don't want. If there are unwanted people, cars, etc., wait until they pass by. If there is a jumbled background, try another angle of view. Your real subject can get "lost" among objects around it.

"Composing" your picture beforehand in the viewfinder is easier than ever with a new modern camera. Come in and inspect one today. We'll gladly explain all the features. Cameras are our business, at

Violence In Suburban Schools Reported Up

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Violence is increasing in suburban schools, a teachers' study indicated yesterday, and those who flee the cities are discovering "there is no more sanctuary" for their children.

The study, conducted on a random-sample basis by the American Federation of Teachers in 30 districts across the country, showed incidents of violence in more than half during the 1970-71 school year.

The incidents included "violence, vandalism, physical and verbal abuse of both students and teachers," Robert Bhaerman, director of the AFT research department, said.

"There were much fewer instances reported from the past years," Bhaerman reported to the AFT national convention. "Thus, it appears violence is on the increase."

AFT President David Selden of Washington, D. C., commenting on the report, said the causes of increased disorder were many but were centered around the breakdown of the family and the church and the decay of schools themselves.

"People who have fled the urban areas for sanctuary now find there is no more sanctuary," he said.

The central cause of all institutional decay, Selden said, is that Americans have lost confidence in their own society.

"Even President Nixon has lost confidence and administration policy has failed," he said. He said the Nixon Administration has been trying mere to "preserve the status quo."

Selden also said the officials believe that public employees are exempt under the law from Nixon's 90-day wage-price freeze.

"But (Treasury Secretary John) Connally thinks otherwise, and we're still looking into it," he said.

Panel Nod To Plans For Shops

Landscaping and parking plans for the Port, a series of retail shops to be located on the site of the former Top Hat Market, 391 Miller Avenue, have been approved by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee.

Planning Director Tom W. Newton said the plans include a proposed access road to connect the port area with Miller Plaza.

He said the advisory committee on Tuesday also approved landscaping and design plans for the proposed Creek Park adjacent to the plaza and landscaping and exterior lighting plans for the Park Terra Apartments at the plaza.

In other business, the architectural committee approved exterior architectural and landscaping plans for the Sullivan Pre-School, to be located on Ashford Avenue, north of the Red Cart Market.

Employees Aren't Loafing On Jobs

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Ronald T. Utterback, a candidate for the city commission, complained that municipal employes should be more diligent and said he recently found many of them "knitting, reading and generally loafing on the job."

It was learned Wednesday that Utterback was charged by Patrolman David R. Dean with speeding on a downtown street the day after the candidate made the complaint.

TREAD WEAR EXPECTANCY

Because of variable driving habits and road conditions under which tires are used, it is impractical for Montgomery Ward, and conceivably misleading to our customers, to guarantee any specific number of months or miles of tread wear. We can, however, indicate the wear potential we have built into our tires in terms of service in normal family use. If a Riverside tire wears down to the tread wear indicators during the Tread Wear Expectancy, Montgomery Ward will upon presentation of the tire and evidence of date of purchase replace the tire for the then current regular price less the following dollar allowance:

Quarterback Spot Holds Key To Marin Hopes

By RON LENT

College of Marin football coach Dick Read may have to reach his "Peak" this season to reverse last year's disappointing 1-8 won-lost record.

The veteran coach is planning intensive work on the signal calling skills of Drake High School graduate Kevin Peak, a reserve last season. At the same time, Read is trying to coax quarterback Tom Jackson onto the field. The former Terra Linda All-Conference performer sat out last fall. "I think he'll be there," Read enthused yesterday as he studied his 1971 roster.

If not, the Black and Gold will rely on Peak's deft ball handling abilities and improving passing techniques. Returning starters Bob Sullivan, 5-foot-11, 200-pounds, and Gary Agee, 5-7, 155, will bulwark the ground game. The tiny back provides quickness in complementing Sullivan's power drives.

To augment the potentially outstanding line assaults, Read will welcome back his fine guard tandem of Bill Busig, 5-8, 203, and Kim Johnstone, 6-0, 220. The pair will surround center Rich English, a 5-8, 185 pound 1970 backup performer. The tackle candidates include: Frank Pomilia, 5-11, 218; Cas Cassleman, 6-1, 190; Doug Best, 6-1, 220; and holdover standout Chris Chapman, 6-3, 185.

This unit, well drilled in fundamentals, will attempt to protect Peak from defensive giants bent on his destruction. If his line succeeds, Peak, or Jackson, can look to Bob Larson, 5-10, 170, as an excellent aerial target. The lithe lad, however, remains a question mark, pending full recovery from a broken right leg suffered last season. Tom McGrath, 6-1, 165 is touted as another fine receiver.

On defense, the Tar leader has excellent linebacking with vet starters Ron Budde, 6-0, 190, and Dave Perron, 5-11, 182, on hand. Chris Hunt, Terra Linda's two-time All-League linebacker, is also expected to turn out. His arrival, plus the return of erstwhile Air Force property Rick Gifford, 6-2, 228, will increase the quality of an already sound collection. Read considers Gifford, a 1966 starter, "a quick and hard hitter."

This contingent will support an interior line that features Chapman and Terra Linda All-Leaguer Bruce Little, 6-2, 215, at the tackles. The pair will work with last fall's part time first unit member Terry Reason, a 5-7, 160-pound middle guard.

Lynn Merritt, 6-2, 190, gives Read experience at one end slot; the other is wide open. In the secondary, the Kentfield squad has McGrath, "a fine defensive back," according to Read. Dick Tierney, 5-10, 150, and Tony Cassen, 6-175 give the team added backfield talent.

Although this group features experience, Read knows, "We have a demanding schedule" which includes bitter rival Santa Rosa and defending champs West Valley College.

"We finished fifth last year, so we've pretty well run the gamut," after having earned conference titles in 1967 and 1968.

He adds that, although he has just 18 days between the opening of practice Sept. 1 and the first clash Sept. 18 against visiting Merced at 1 p.m., "we'll work hard in climbing back to contention."

Big Test For Marin Ski King

DELAWARE, Ohio (UPI)—The four-day National Water Ski Championships, drawing nearly 250 skiers from all across the U.S., opened today at White Sulphur Lake near here.

It marks the second straight year that the championships, sanctioned by the American Water Ski Association, have been held in the Buckeye State. Last year's event was competed at Canton.

White Sulphur Lake, which covers 38 acres, is located about five miles west of here and 25 miles north of Columbus. The competition is under the sponsorship of the Columbus Aqua Ski Club.

Eight division championships in the four events will be up for grabs. They are the men's and women's, senior men's and women's, boys' and girls' and junior boys' and girls'. The four events consist of the slalom, tricks, jumping and the overall winner.

In the women's division, Liz Allan Shetter of Richmond, Va., will go after her fourth straight national overall title. Mrs. Shetter's competition will come from Christy Lynn Weir of McQueeney, Tex., Christie Freeman of Thayer, Mo., and Barbara Clack from Miami Fla.,

Miss Clack jumped 111 feet at the recent Masters Tournament at Callaway Gardens, Ga., breaking the world mark previously held by Mrs. Shetter, who did not compete in this year's Masters.

In the girls' division, Lisa St. John of Fall River Mills, Calif., who along with Miss Freeman and Miss Weir will make up the female portion of the U.S. World Water Ski Championships team, is the heavy favorite. Miss St. John won all four titles in the girls' division last year.

In the boys' division, the top-heavy choice is Wayne Grimditch of Hillsboro Beach, Fla., also a member of the U.S. World team which competes at Banolas, Spain, Sept. 11-20. Suyderhoud and McCormick round out the six-member World squad.

Other defending champions returning are Bill Stevenson of Greenville, S. C., in the senior men's overall and Artis Price of Mundelein, Ill. in the senior women's slalom and overall.

GIANTS HIKE LEAD

Yankee Castoff S. F. Ace In Hole

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A year ago John Cumberland was discarded by the New York Yankees as excess baggage.

He came to the San Francisco Giants as an unknown quantity and after one hurried look, they, too, unloaded him. Fortunately, it was to Phoenix, a club the Giants own in the Pacific Coast League.

This spring Cumberland, a stocky lefthander, was invited to training camp, and there were those who thought it was strictly because the Giants lacked southpaw pitchers.

While younger and harder throwing pitchers eliminated themselves Cumberland worked diligently and in almost complete obscurity, but one man who saw something he liked was Giants skipper Charlie Fox.

If the Giants go on this year to win the National League West it well may be because of Fox' decision to keep Cumberland last spring.

John, a quiet New Englander who rarely gets ruffled either by enemy hitters or sideline hecklers, pitched a five-hit shutout, his first in the big leagues, Wednesday as the Giants routed the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-0, and stretched their current winning streak to five games.

Cumberland said it wasn't the best game he's pitched but he'd take it anyway.

"I think I pitched better, in some ways, against the Dodgers the last time I faced them," said Cumberland, "but who can knock a shutout. Actually, I would have settled for any score just so long as we won. At this stage of the season the only thing that counts is winning."

The victory was Cumberland's seventh of the year in nine decisions and he achieved it with a minimum of effort. The only inning in which he got into trouble was the fifth when the Phillies loaded the bases on a single and two walks with one out. But John reached back for something extra and retired the next two batters easily to keep his shutout alive.

Meanwhile, Dick Dietz unloaded a two-run homer in the first to give Cumberland a head start and later—in the seventh

Ordinarily, changing catchers in the middle of the game can be disconcerting to a pitcher but Cumberland said it hardly made a difference.

"I haven't worked that much with Gibson," said Cumberland, "but he's a good defensive catcher, so we had no problems."

Gibson said he felt he was on the spot when he replaced Dietz behind the plate.

"Cumberland had established his pattern and when I got back there I thought what a shame it would be if he lost his rhythm," Gibson said.

"John shook me off a few times and I let him because I figured he knew what he wanted to do. After that we seemed to be thinking alike and we went on from there."

Gibson's homer was his first in the National League since coming to the Giants in the spring of 1970.

Did it give him a thrill?

"It helped make things easier for Cumberland," said Gibson, "and that's the only importance that should be attached to it."

Called Baseball Rules Require Uniformity

Baseball rules concerning suspended and called games should be made uniform. Now, a suspended game is resumed at the exact point of suspension; a called game is played over from the first inning if the score is tied.

Games halted by light failure, curfews and darkness (Wrigley Field is the only major league park without lights) are suspended games. Games washed out by weather fall into the called category.

A TEAM that breaks a 3-3 tie with a three-run rally in the top of the 12th does not forfeit those runs in a suspended game. But in a called game the 12th inning rally is erased if the home team does not get a chance to bat in the bottom of the 12th and the score reverts to its 3-3 status at the end of the 11th. Furthermore, the called game is replayed from scratch.

Why does baseball's brass tolerate such artificial and inequitable distinctions? Because the brass, not all of it but a substantial portion, think some fans would try to use their rain checks after watching an extra inning washout.

MAYBE SOME fans would. There was a smart legal fellow who got a refund from the Giants several years ago because he successfully claimed that his Candlestick Park seat was cold, not heated as it was supposed to be. Thereafter, on all of their tickets the Giants carefully stated they were not responsible for Candlestick's operative or inoperate heating pipes.

Rain checks are good only if a fan hasn't seen a complete ball game — and games that go five innings are complete games insofar as rain checks are concerned. So the reasoning by some baseball brass on extra-inning ties is as artificial as the distinction now made between suspended and called games.

CHUB FEENEY is bringing some sense into archaic baseball rules. He is the kind of National League president who believes baseball games should be won or lost on the playing field, not with fancy technicalities that erase rallies in the top of the 12th.

The Cardinals broke a 3-3 tie Aug. 1 when they rallied for three runs in the top of the 12th at Philadelphia. The game was halted twice during the rally by rain. After the second delay, groundskeepers couldn't get their water cleaning machine to work properly. The umpires ruled that the contest was a called game, ending in a 3-3 tie after 11 innings.

THE CARDINALS protested to Feeney that failure of the mechanical equipment, not rain, prevented the game from being completed. Feeney upheld the protest, ruling it a suspended game to be resumed from the point of suspension Sept. 6 prior to a Cardinal-Philly game scheduled on that date.

Feeney equated the failure of the water cleaning machine to light failure. He further stated that all four umpires agreed that under weather conditions present at the time and for a long enough period thereafter, the game could have been completed on Philadelphia's new artificial grass had it not been for the failure of the mechanical equipment.

U.S. Tips Mexico In Volleyball Eliminations Play

MIAMI (UPI)—The United States scored its second straight victory in the Olympic volleyball elimination in Havana Wednesday night, defeating Mexico in a match much tougher than the 3-0 score indicated.

The U.S. team came from behind in every set of the game, which was broadcast by the Cuban radio from Havana's "Sports City" coliseum and monitored in Miami. Set scores were 15-7, 17-15, 15-11.

Cuba kept abreast of the U.S. squad by downing Netherlands Antilles in straight sets, 15-0, 15-4, 15-1, using reserves in the final set. Cuba and the United States have identical 2-0 records in the round-robin tournament to choose a North America-Central America-Caribbean Zone representative to the 1972 Olympics in Munich.

AGAINST RAMS

Raiders To Give Rookie A Chance

With the departure of veteran Al Dotson, who was put on waivers from the Raiders training camp, Jones is in the starting role at left defensive end.

Dotson had started in the first two exhibition games while last season's starter, Tony Cline, recovered from a damaged ankle, but Jones wound up playing three quarters in each game.

Cline practiced this week for the first time since wrenching his ankle early in the training season, but he is not likely to play in Saturday's contest at the UC Berkeley Stadium against Los Angeles, leaving the job to the 22-year-old Jones.

Oakland coach John Madden has indicated he may move lightly-tested veteran Harold Rice from right to left end. Extight end Lloyd Edwards could also see some action in the spot.

But the Raiders obviously are high on Jones, a 12th round draft choice from Louisville, or they wouldn't have cut the 28year-old Dotson, a five year veteran who saw plenty of action last season.

"Horace is a strong kid with good speed and quickness," Madden said. "One reason for his success is the work he's put in against Bob Brown and Ron Mix, two of the best.

Brown, the All-Pro offensive lineman who came to Oakland in a trade with Los Angeles, faced both Dotson and Jones in practice.

"Horace has good quickness, good speed, good hands, everything it takes to be a good one," Brown said. "All he needs is experience."

The Raiders also announced that wide receiver Rod Sherman was again working out with the team. He had first missed last week's exhibition game for "personal reasons" and then showed up at camp but not worked out.

Tennis Ace Has Brush With Death

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Roy Emerson meets Ron Holmberg in a second round match in the Colonial Professional Tennis Tournament today, and he is a very lucky man to be able to play. Emerson had a brush with death Wednesday night.

Emerson had just completed a shower in his motel room Wednesday night before going to the Colonial Country Club.

Standing in a puddle of water in the bathroom Emerson reached for a towel. His hand touched a towel rack. The bolts holding the towel rack into the wall were, in turn, touching a 115 volt wire behind the wall.

Emerson said despite the incident he will be ready to play Holmberg tonight.

49ers Concentrate On Special Units

BOCA RATON, Fla. (708)—San Francisco 49ers coach Dick Nolan attributes much of his team's success last season to his improved special teams — the punting and kickoff units.

A new coach, Chet Franklin, has taken over the special units this season, and Nolan will be watching those units carefully Sunday in the 49ers exhibition game against San Diego at Candlestick Park.

Franklin has eight units — punting and punt coverage, kickoffs and coverage; field goals and defenders, point after touchdown men and the preventers.

There are two men for each position for a total of 176 jobs. Obviously, Nolan will have his hands full in trying to assess who are the best men for the jobs.

Meanwhile, at the 49er training camp Wednesday, Nolan said injured linebacker Dave Wilcox probably will not play against the Chargers, but that cornerback Jim Johnson probably will.

The only unsigned player is rookie defensive back Tim Anderson, the 49ers' top draft choice from Ohio State. The 49ers say they have offered Anderson an $85,000 package over three years, but Anderson says the figure is considerably less.

Kid's Big Win Over Proud Vet

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

The proud, old man was no match for the brash, young kid in Cincinnati Wednesday night.

In an interesting duel, 35-year-old Bob Gibson, who pitched a no-hitter in his last start, faced 20-year-old Don Bullett, who pitched one-hit ball for 7⅓ innings in his last start. It was no contest. Gullett pitched a seven-hit shutout to boost his record to 14-4 while Gibson, 11-11,. was tagged for five runs in seven innings as Cincinnati blanked St. Louis 5-0.

"Facing a pitcher like Gibson has to give you some incentive," Gullett said, "and when you beat a master who has won over 200 games, you can't help but experience more satisfaction."

Manager Sparky Anderson said, "I don't believe that kid has any emotions. Just think what it would be like if he comes up with a change up like Johnny Podres. It would add a yard to his fastball." Johnny Bench said, "Gullett's curve was the best he displayed all season and now he'll have the confidence to use it more in the future."

Lee May said, "only 20 years old, just think how long he has to be great."

Bernie Carbo homered in the third off Gibson and George Foster added a two-run triple during the four-run fifth inning to give Gullett all the help he needed. The young fastballer, who had a 5-2 record, mainly in relief, last year as the Reds coasted to the pennant, has been one of the few Cincinnati players to improve this season.

It was a costly loss for St. Louis since it dropped the Cardinals into third place, six games behind the Eastern division-leading Pittsburgh Pirates, who downed Houston 3-2. Chicago moved into second place, 5 1-2 games back, with a 7-2 victory over Atlanta. In the other National League games, San Francisco blanked Philadelphia 7-0, New York edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings and Montreal nipped San Diego 4-3.

In the American League, Baltimore nipped Milwaukee 64, Minnesota edged Cleveland 42, Chicago beat Detroit 4-2, Washington routed Oakland 103, New York topped Kansas City 3-1 and Boston shaded California 4-3.

Milt May's bases-loaded single in the ninth with none out gave Pittsburgh the victory over Houston. Willie Stargell started the rally with a double off Denny Lemaster. After an intentional walk, Jim Ray replaced Lemaster and walked Bob Robertson to load the bases before May singled to win the game. Robertson and May also hit solo homers for Pittsburgh.

Johnny Callison, hitting .195 when he went to the plate, hit his fourth career grand slam in the eighth to hand Chicago the victory over Atlanta. Commenting on his low average, Callison said: "How can you hit when you aren't playing. I've only started five games in the past seven weeks. I just can't hit if I don't play regularly."

Tommie Agee doubled in the 10th and scored on Ken Singleton's single to give New York a victory over Los Angeles. Willie Crawford doubled in the last of the 10th and moved to third on an infield out but Danny Frisella retired the next two batters to end the game and gain his sixth victory.

Rumpf used a 12-run fifth inning explosion in whipping Patio, while The Bums overcame back-to-back Industrial homers with a seven-run seventh frame. Steve Hendricksen's three hits and the same number of runs batted in paced Perry's assault. John Wiess's pair of doubles highlighted the Squids' attack.

A's Lose Again, Head For Home

BALTIMORE (UPI) —After two straight losses to Washington, the Oakland A's end their road trip with one quick game today in Baltimore, a team they may see more of in the American League playoffs.

The visit with President Nixon on Tuesday may have distracted the Oakland players from their business with Washington.

The Senators ripped off three doubles and a triple before anyone was out in a seven-run eighth inning Wednesday night to drop the A's, 10-3.

Washington's bonus rookie pitcher, Pete Broberg, limited Oakland to five hits to pick up his fourth win against three losses. The Senator outburst began against Chuck Dobson, who lost his third game in 15 decisions.

Don Mincher hit a two-run homer, his second two-run homer in two nights against his former teammates, to putsthe Senators in front, 3-2, in the fifth inning.

Oakland pulled even in the sixth on a double by Mike Hegan and a single by Tommy Davis. The A's had taken a 2-1 lead in the fourth inning on a single by Bert Campaneris, successive walks to Hegan, Davis and Gene Tenace plus a sacrifice fly by George Hendrick.

The two losses did little to the A's bulky lead in the American League West division. They still hold a 14 1-2 game margin over Kansas City.

Former Marinite Cracks National Rifle Records

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (UPI)— Gary Anderson of Axtell, Neb., former student at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, set a match record here Thursday, but Ronald Tryor of Williamsfield, Ohio, who didn't win a match in the third round of competition, continued to lead the U. S. National High Power Rifle championships.

Anderson established a record in the 200-yard Navy Cup standing match by firing a perfect 200 score with 15 center hits. Anderson also finished high in the 200-yard sitting Coast Guard Trophy match with another 200 for a three-day total of 1,171, Troyer leads with 1,181 out of a possible 1,200 points. He scored 191 in the Navy Cup and 200 in the Coast Guard Trophy competition.

LAMPASAS: Tex. (UPI)— Jose Luis Trevino, a 17-year-old, 125-pound junior backfield man at Lampasas High School, died Wednesday in a Temple hospital 14 hours after collapsing at the end of workouts of his team Tuesday night.

The coach said other players told him Trevino had remarked of "really getting hit" during a tackling drill Monday but that the youth had told them he was okeh.

Trevino worked out again Tuesday morning with his team, worked at his service station job during the day and apparently was okeh during the twilight practice Tuesday night. But, he collapsed as the coaches called the players together to go to the dressing room.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) —Former major league outfielder Walter Mueller, who played for the Pittsburgh Pirates from 1922 to 1926 will be buried Thursday at Zion Lutheran Church. Mueller, the father of former New York Giant outfielder Don Mueller, died Monday at the age of 76.

age a few more points to .290. Less than three weeks ago he was at .250 and the Giants recalled Jim Ray Hart from Phoenix with the idea of sticking him at third. It hasn't happened yet and isn't likely to until Gallagher goes into a swoon.

The Giants are idle today but begin a nine game road trip in Montreal on Friday. Juan Marichal will pitch that game for the Giants with Gaylord Perry working on Saturday and Cumberland on Sunday.

With numerous days off in the remaining schedule that figures to be the San Francisco rotation the rest of the way.

Pinto 2-Door Sedan
Maverick 2-Door Sedan

Pinto. $1919*

Pinto, the Little Carefree Car:
- Priced lower than VW113 and Chevrolet Vega.
- 75-hp engine averaged over 25 mpg in simulated city/suburban driving.
- Rack and pinion steering like expensive sports cars.
- Wide stance, low profile for better stability even in gusty crosswinds.
- Uni-body construction for strength and quiet.
- Calls for fewer oil changes and lubes than VW.

Maverick. $2175*
$176 less than Nova.

Maverick, the Simple Machine:
- Simpler to own than Chevy Nova because it's lower priced.
- Simple to drive and park because of its shorter turning circle.
- Simple to service because it's been designed that way. So simple that you can do most routine maintenance yourself.
- Select from three thrifty Sixes or an economical V-8.
- Choice of 2 doors or 4, or sporty Grabber.

*Ford's suggested retail price for Pinto and Maverick. However, the models shown are equipped with accent group (Pinto $60; Maverick $52) and white sidewall tires $(29). Destination charges, dealer preparation charges (if any), state and local taxes are extra.

Hunter Guns For Top Golf Honors Sunday

An avid hunter will be gunning for his first Marin County Tournament of Champions golf title Sunday at Peacock Gap Country Club in San Rafael.

He is Chuck Freitas, a 25-year-old Navy veteran, who will represent San Geronimo National Golf Club.

Matched in an 18-hole medal scratch competition with champions of five other Marin County clubs, Freitas said: "I want to make the most of this." A pheasant hunting enthusiast when he isn't golfing and working as an electrician in San Francisco, Freitas plays to a five handicap.

Some of his rivals in the T of C have lower handicaps, so Freitas admits he has his work cut out for him. "I'll need a little luck to win this once. The difference is that some of those golfers do not make mistakes; I do," he said.

He'll be battling head-to-head with the likes of defending champion Jim Brown of Mill Valley, veteran Mat Palacio Jr. of Marin Country Club in Novato, George Scherba Sr. of Novato's Indian Valley Golf Club, Don Lazzarini of the Meadow Club near Fairfax and Robert Bond of Peacock Gap.

In this sixth annual tournament, Lazzarini and Scherba, the 1966 T of C winner, each will be making his fourth T of C appearance. Brown is playing for the second time while Palacio, Freitas and Bond are newcomers.

Freitas has temporarily shelved his rifles to work on his links game, particularly "my concentration," he said. "When I go out there I can't be thinking how the Giants are doing. I must think only about keeping the ball in play and from going for a home run swing."

Freitas, who played baseball in high school in San Francisco and picked up golf while serving in the Navy in Hawaii where he won a number of service tournaments, says he will "psych myself up by getting there early Sunday to concentrate on putting and driving and avoiding three-putt greens."

Besides pheasant hunting, Freitas also goes after ducks and doves and also is taking Scuba diving classes.

He qualified for the T of C by dethroning two-time San Geronimo champ Ken Harnquist for the 1971 crown.

GOLF NOTES

Peacock Layout: Short, Level

When the six area club titlist tee off Sunday in the fifth Marin County Golf Tournament of Champions, they will do so on a short, 6,100 yard Peacock Gap course in San Rafael.

The half-dozen, including defending champion Jim Brown of Mill Valley, George Scherba Sr. of Novato's Indian Valley Golf Club, Don Lazzarini of the Meadow Club, Mat Palacio Jr. of Marin Country Club, Chuck Freitas of San Geronimo and Robert Bond of Peacock Gap will hook up for 18 holes of scratch play.

"It's fairly level," club pro Harry Lawrence said of Peacock, "except from the third green to the fourth tee and it goes downhill to the 10th green from the 10th tee."

The 11-year-old course, sporting a Northern California Golf Association rating of 67.9, down 2.1 since 1968, has several water holes, notably 2,4,6,9,11,-12,13,14,16 and 17.

However, Lawrence rates the 460-yeard par four 18th hole as the course's toughest test and added that the par three number 3 hole also poses problems "because it goes uphill sloping toward the front of the green; the ball will break off the green, particularly if you have a backspin."

Conversely, Lawrence contends that the 137-yard 10th hole "is by far the easiest. We've had a lot of holes-in-one on that one." Others of the less challenging variety are 3, 7, 13 and 16, he said.

The seventh hole, obervers say, is "just about level." Lawrence agrees and adds, "Six is peculiar because it has an angle dog leg. You drive down the fairway all right, but you have to make a left turn and hit the approach shot over a lake to the green."

The congenial, veteran golfer states that, "You can see almost the entire course from the pro shop or from the balcony on the west end of the building."

Marin Team In Regional Tournament

San Rafael's Suburban Auto Repair softball team makes its fourth consecutive appearance as the San Francisco area representatives Saturday when it faces Fresno at the North Pacific Regionals in Hayward.

The manager Don Koss said today, if victorious, "We will go on to the National Championships in Springfield, Missouri Sept. 10."

However, the road will be a rocky, for Fresno is reportedly "loaded." The fact doesn't dampen the Koss contingent confidence. The team features a one-two pitching tandem of Ron McChesney and Joe Nystrom. The pair sport a 1.59 and 1.23 earned run average, respectively. Mike Martin, a .305 hitter, does the catching with player-coach Bob Mingee in reserve.

Ron Reagan, .329, and Rich Manteuffel, the team's leading run producer, share first base duties. Greg Schaefer, .222, newcomber Steve Henriksen, .294, and Phil Gambucci, .295, round out the infield at second, third and short, in that order.

Power hitting Bill Baxter brings a .290 clip against Fresno. Joe Fonteno, .222, and Nolan Wilson, .280, complete the flychasing brigade.

This group combined to aid Suburban's domination of the San Francisco "A" League circuit for four years.

Earlier this year, Suburban won the S.F. Invitational Tournament and the San Francisco Spring League, placed second at the Hayward Invitational and fourth in the Golden Gate Travel League.

Pancho Mellows With Age

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pancho Gonzalez doesn't fight it anymore. Not like he used to anyway. The black-haired, perpetually sun-tanned Mt. Vesuvius of the tennis courts seldom ever erupts these days.

Age has a lot to do with it. Age and the wisdom which comes with natural every day living.

He's old enough to know exactly what his chances are in the U.S. Open tennis championships which he'll be playing in at Forest Hills two weeks from now but still young enough to whip kids half his age who'll also be in that event.

"I sort of look at tennis now as a game that gives me an opportunity to come around and see my old friends," said Gonzalez at a get-together the other day.

Pancho Gonzalez was pretty much at ease also.

Could that be the reason he was dishing up this mild farina about looking at tennis now only as some kind of social vehicle?

"I still have confidence I'm gonna win matches, I just don't know how many," he said.

"What about the U.S. Open title?"

Gonzalez shrugged.

"Who knows?" he said. "I feel I've got a chance otherwise I wouldn't be competing. I'm not gonna quit; I'm gonna try."

He was beginning to sound like the old Pancho Gonzalez, the one who once said —"I'm the best player and I deserve the most money" —and now they began asking him about Rod Laver and what he thought Laver could do to get out of the doldrums.

"One thing he can do is not play in as many tournaments," Gonzalez said. "As you get older, my age or Rosewall's age, you have to accept the fact you're not as good as you once were. At 33 you don't try to do the things you did when you were 23. Laver has to adjust.

"But that contract of his says he has to play."

"He's got to go in there and adjust that part of it, too," Gonzalez said.

"What do you think keeps him going, the money?"

"I don't think so," Gonzalez said. "It may work up to that point though. Now it's something else besides the money. I think Laver suffers more inside than I do. I explode, or used to anyway, and get it all out of my system. When he gets beat, he really hurts. I can understand that. A guy becomes champion because he hates to lose. The only champion I ever saw or heard of that seemed able to accept losing like a complete gentleman was Joe Louis."

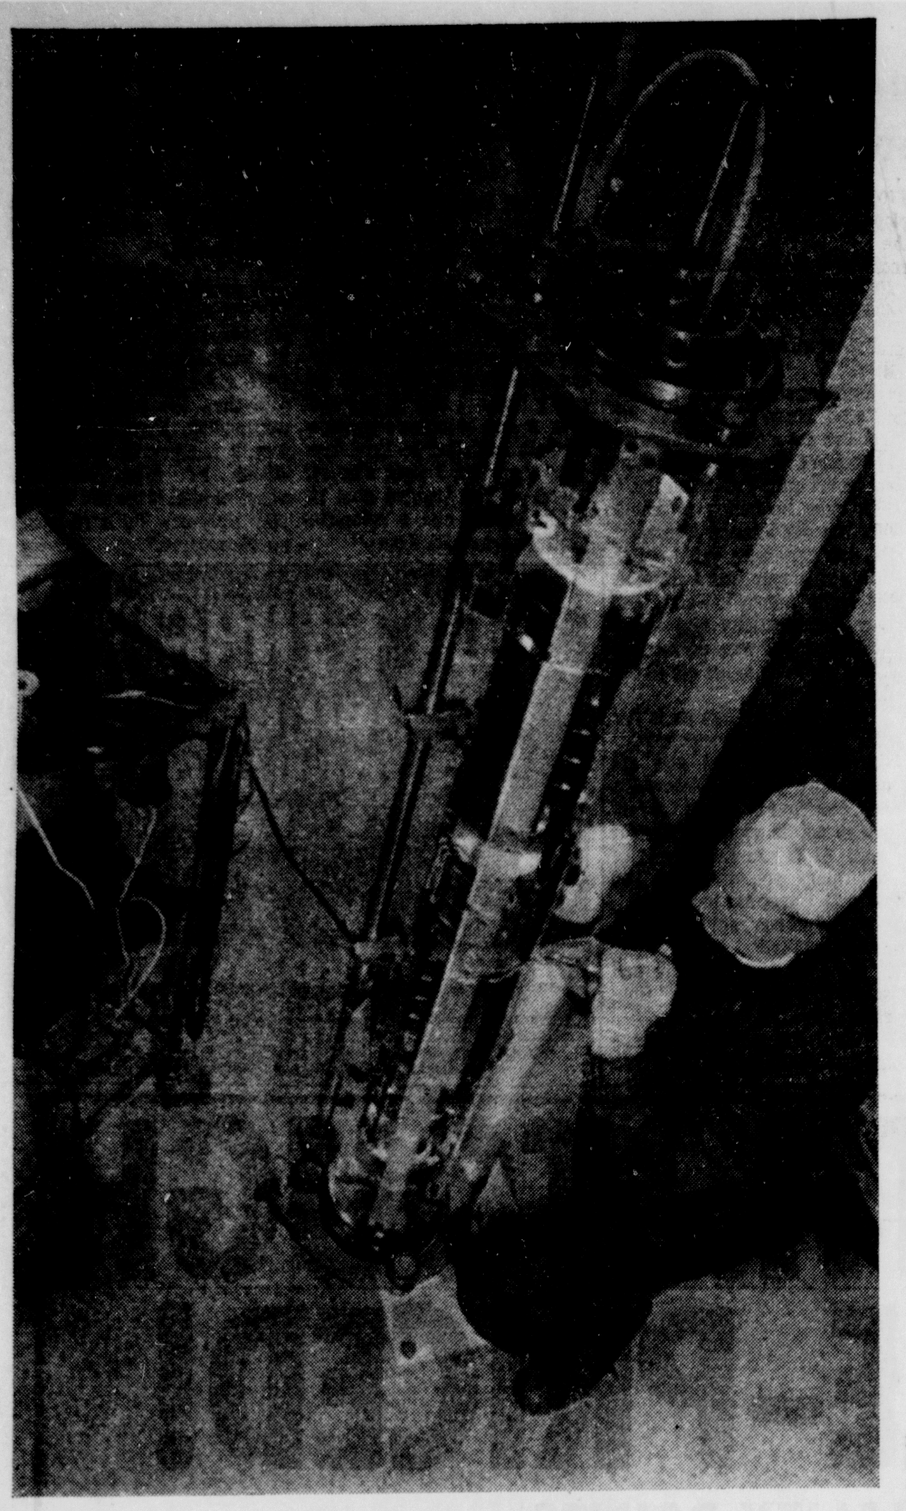

"Would you say Laver still is the best there is in the world, slump and all?"

"I would not," Gonzalez said. "I think Newcombe already has surpassed him. Newcombe won at Wimbledon this year, last year and a couple of years before that. His record is most outstanding. Even though Rod won a number of the Classic events I'd rate Newcombe ahead of him. If the two were to play right now I'd have to bet on Newcombe."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Duquesne Light: Generous Yield

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. When Control Data merged with Commercial Credit Corp., we exchanged our shares and now never receive dividends. Since we are interested in income should we sell? — E.F.

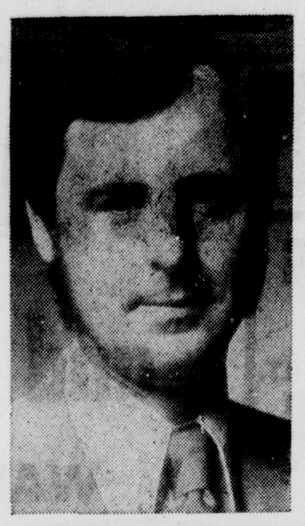

A. Yes. In your circumstance a speculative growth issue such as Control Data is unsuitable. As a replacement I favor one of the electric utilities. The relatively high yields available at low price/earnings multiples make these issues attractive for income investors.

Duquesne Light, which is expected to report a good advance in operating results, sells at a current multiple of 10x and returns 7.3 per cent in dividend income. Rate increases totalling $11.4 million and $6.9 million were granted in January and June. Hearings on an additional $10 million in rate relief are pending. Dividend liberalization is probable this year.

Q. Should I take my loss on 50 shares of Jervis Corp. bought some time ago? My other holdings are blue chips. As a widow I can ill-afford the loss. — R.C.

A. This company operates in four different fields, with each area contributing about 25 per cent of sales. Two divisions, Harmon-Kardon and J.B. Lansing are highly respected names in the fields of high fidelity components and sound reproduction. Contributions from these divisions have been satisfactory. However, results from Jervis' two metal processing divisions, which supply original equipment for the automotive trade and components for jet engines, have been disappointing. As a result deficits were reported in four of the last five quarters.

Sales for the nine months through May 31 were off 11 per cent year-to-year, while a deficit of nine cents a share was reported versus earnings of five in the 1970 period. Jervis has distributed stock dividends to shareholders in each of the last several years. Depending on when your shares were purchased, your per share cost and the number of shares you held should be adjusted, thereby reducing your paper loss. Jervis' stake in the development of gas turbine car motors adds a speculative fillip to these shares which should be held.

NEW MACY'S MANAGER — David McCullough will manage Macy's San Rafael store, replacing Stephen Leonesio, who has been appointed vice president and store manager in Stockton. McCullough was formerly group sales manager at Macy's Hillsdale store. He has been with the firm since 1965.

Profit Grab On Market Continues

NEW YORK (UPI)—Profit taking today continued to chop off some of the stock market's huge advance of the week's first two sessions, sparked by PresidentNixon'sannouncement last weekend of a new economic game plan to speed economic recovery.

Most analysts were looking for some downward correction, but said it would not disturb the market's long-term trend, which is upward.

Declines outnumbered advances, 731 to 441, among the 1,487 issues crossing the tape. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.50 at 98.10.

Automotive stocks were narrowly mixed through the first two hours of trading.

Point-sized movers in the electronics traded in both directions. IBM was off about a point, but Burroughs gained around 2.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Three Motorcycle Oriented Businesses Are Set To Open

Three more bsuinesses are scheduled to open on Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael in the new building nearing completion by Johnny Ribeiro, Builder.

Planning to move in by the end of the month are:

BMW of Marin, now located at 55 Larkspur Street, San Rafael. Owner Duane Ausherman has leased 2,736 square feet at 1121 Francisco Boulevard.

Quality Motor Repair, now at 625 Grand Avenue, will go in 1123 Francisco where Daniel Davies has taken 4,000 square feet.

Vanguard Engineering, a new motorcycle repair business will take 1,254 square feet at 1121 Francisco. Owner Richard Arian of Ross has been in this field of work about five years in San Francisco.

Earlier this month, Best Buy Transmissions moved into this building at 1125 Francisco Boulevard from 633 Irwin Street. All leases were handled by William W. Hoey and Co.

BANK OF AMERICA in Sausalito is planning to take over the entire building at 750 Bridgeway, of which it occupied a part, for general expansion. No date has yet been set to start work on remodeling.

This means that both Polly McNaught, Realtor and Environmental Planning and Design Associates at 752 Bridgeway will be obliged to move to new locations. Mrs. McNaught has not yet decided on one, but Environmental Planning will be moving to another office on Princess Street with more space about the first of next month.

ROBERT MANEY of San Rafael, who was general agent here for Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. of New Jersey for six years and built up this office from scratch to $10 million a year by the end of his third year, has taken on the managership of the State Mutual Life Insurance Co. Agency in San Francisco.

Formerly known as the James L. Pappas agency it will now be called the Robert Maney Agency. It does about $7 million a year now and Maney has as his goal boosting this to $20 million. Two of its members who live in San Rafael, Jack Nixon and Frank Tallarida, are members of the Million Dollar Round Table.

At this writing, no new general agent in San Rafael for Mutual Benefit Life had been appointed.

Maney

Nuccion

ALBERT L. NUCCION of San Rafael has been appointed assistant manager at Crocker Bank's Golden Gateway-Jackson Square office in San Francisco. A 10-year employee of the bank, he served at the Park Merced office in San Francisco and at the San Rafael main and East San Rafael offices as well as at Santa Barbara and Milpitas.

REAL ESTATE: Joseph Serpa and Mrs. Betty Greaves of the San Rafael office of Fox and Carskadon, Inc. have been made members of the firm's Million Dollar Club ... The Holiday Park subdivision in Cotati that had 68 homes to sell last week now has only 13 left. Its grand opening sales campaign over the weekend disposed of 55 homesites.

TRIPS: Account Executives Darrell Hollyman, Joseph Gereghty, Louis Oleari, Ray E. Hummel and James Hirst of Waldron and Co. visited Great Western Land and Cattle Co. headquarters and ranches in Albuquerque and southern Colorado last weekend. Great Western is offering tax sheltered cattle breeding investments.

Two Key Panel Endorsements For Marin Antisuicide Center

Marin's Suicide Prevention Center yesterday was endorsed by the Marin Mental Health Advisory Committee on a 5-3 vote, Keith C. Craig, president of the antisuicide center reported today.

The Marin Health Facilities Planning Council also has endorsed the center's operation, center directors learned at a meeting last night.

Craig explained that the two endorsements were required by the Marin County Board of Supervisors before it would act on a request for $6,000 to finance the center until Jan. 1 and permit hiring a professional director. The board is expected to act on the fund request Tuesday, Craig reported.

Craig noted that the center will not become eligible for financial support from United Bay Area Crusade until it has a paid director.

At last night's meeting, the center directors elected a new president, psychiatrist Jamshid A. H. Bakhtiar. He and a new secretary, Franciska Curtis, will take office Sept. 1, Craig said.

Craig reported that the suicide prevention center has handled more than 100 calls since its switchboard opened July 1. However, he noted the county recorded its 45th suicide death for the year last night. The county total for all of 1970 was 47 suicides, he said.

San Rafael Man Is Found Dead

He had apparently taken his own life, according to Deputy Coroner Don Cornish.

Varney, who managed Hastings store in Oakland, had registered at the motel at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Cornish said. He was found dead in his bed by a housekeeper about 2:20 p.m. yesterday.

He had given a false name and address when he registered, according to Cornish.

His wife, Enid, had placed a missing person report with San Rafael police yesterday when she received a note in the mail from her husband saying he intended to take his life. Another note was found in his room, Cornish said.

Varney was saved from death in 1961, when a motorist noticed him in a parked car with the engine running and hoses from the exhaust pipes extending into the rear windows of the car.

Funeral arrangements for Varney, who lived at 38 Vistawood Drive, were pending today at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael.

Hitchhikers Rob Driver

A San Francisco attorney was robbed of his wallet and watch Sunday by two men he picked up and drove to Marin City, Marin County sheriff's officer reported yesterday.

Deputies said Frank F. Green told them that he picked up the hitchhikers at the San Rafael entrance to Highway 101 and, following their directions, drove them to a parking lot in Marin City.

One of the men pulled out a gun and demanded money, Green told deputies, and they escaped with his wallet, watch and an undetermined amount of cash.

New Director For Improvement Club In Almonte

Randy English, librarian at Novato High School, was seated on the board of the Almonte Improvement Club last night, president Marsha R. Silberstein, president, has reported. English replaces Kenneth Nelson who resigned earlier this year.

Mrs. Silberstein said the board also set Saturday as a workday to continue clearing of an area behind the clubhouse, Almonte Boulevard and Wisteria Way, in preparing for construction of a small park the club is planning. Interested persons are urged to meet at the clubhouse at 9:30 a.m., she said, and lunch will be provided.

A planning session on the park has been set for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the clubhouse, according to Mrs. Silberstein.

Appeal By Angela Is Rejected

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Angela Davis's appeal that charges against her be dismissed for lack of evidence was turned down yesterday by the California Supreme Court.

Her petition for a writ of prohibition which would have stopped prosecution was denied without comment by the high court.

The petition was an appeal from a decision by Judge Richard E. Arnason, who is presiding over the case in Marin and who ruled earlier that there was enough evidence in a grand jury transcript to hold Miss Davis for trial.

The grand jury indictment charged her with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the shoot-out last August at the Civic Center in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons died.

Miss Davis is due to go to trial Sept. 27. Pretrial proceedings have been recessed until Sept. 7 at the request of her attorneys who asked time to send questionnaires to all members of Marin grand juries for the past few years.

'Environmentally Solid' Dam Project Started

AUBURN (UPI)—Three dynamite charges signaled the construction start Wednesday on a diversion tunnel for the $550 million Auburn Dam Folsom South Canal project described as "environmentally solid."

Federal and state officials were on hand for the brief ceremony marking the start of work on the 2,400-foot tunnel that will reroute waters of the American River until the dam is constructed.

Assistant U.S. Interior Secretary James R. Smith said about 4,000 persons would be employed during construction of the dam which would give an economic boost to Auburn.

"The end result will be an improvement rather than a degredation of the environment," he added. "We believe this structure is environmentally sound."

The tunnel will be constructed by Walsh-Western of San Francisco under a $5,114,000 contract. The combined dam-canal project, which was started in 1965, is expected to be completed in 1980.

The backup waters of the 700-foot dam will eventually create a lake holding 2.3 million acre feet of water or about twice the capacity of Folsom Lake.

THE TIMESAVER

So at Bank of America we've created a new checking statement for your business account. It lists your checks in numerical order...rather than the order they were cashed. And your check numbers are printed on the statement...alongside the amounts of the checks. An asterisk indicates the checks still outstanding, so you can quickly see which ones haven't cleared.

There is no extra charge for this premium service when you purchase your checks at Bank of America. If you would like the new Timesaver Statement, ask for it at any of our branches. It's available with most types of business checking accounts.
